BOSTON GOSSIP.

A Visit Among the Publishers of the Hub.

Library Reports Being Prepared for the American Public.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, October 26, 1880.—You naturally expect a literary letter, now and then from such a "literary center" as the Hub, and waking, the other day to a sudden realization of the fact that it has actually been some six months since I have written a word concerning books and their publishers, I immediately made calls at some of the prominent houses with results that may certainly be called interesting. The junction of Franklin and Hawley streets, just below Washington, within a stone's throw of the "Old South Meeting House" and therefore, of course, in the very heart of Boston, is a spot in which one is pretty sure, at almost any time, to meet some of the "men of letters" whose names are more or less widely known by the English-reading public. On the southeast corner of this junction, is the publishing house of Messrs. Lee & Shepherd, a very favorite haunt of authors and literary men, and diagonally opposite is located the firm of Messrs. Lothrop & Co., one of the best houses in the country for the kind of publications of which it makes a specialty, viz.: works for children and young people of the highest literary and moral merit. Back of the outer offices is the sanctum of the Wide Awake, a magazine two widely known to require more than naming, wherein presides the talented editor, Ella Farman, (Mrs. Pratt), and which is a favorite corner with the feminine litterati of New England.

Just a step beyond, on Hawley street, are the Boston offices of the New York publishers, Scribner & Son, D. Appleton & Co., and I believe of Harper Brothers, and just below Lee & Shepherd's, until very recently, was located the house of Houghton, Osgood & Co.

The latter firm has become two firms and moved in two different directions, but one naturally turns first to this corner when in quest of literary news, and thither, therefore, went I.

The first book which was here called to my attention, and thereby to yours, was the latest thing by that odd genius, whose writings have caused so many millions of jolly laughs, James M. Bailey, "the Danbury News man." The volume is made up of short sketches after his favorite style, and located on the old stamping-ground, being entitled "The Danbury Boom, with a Full Account of Mrs. Cobleigh's Action therein, together with many other Interesting Phases in the Social and Domestic History of that Remarkable Village." The title page quite speaks for itself, and will make everybody want to read it. The fourth volume of the "Young Folks' Heroes of History" series, by George M. Towle, the well-known Boston journalist and author, is just out, the subject being "The Travels and Adventures of Marco Polo." These historical biographies are all very readable and instructive, and the last is no whit behind its predecessors. "How I Found It North and South, Together with Mary's Statement," is a very pretty and entertaining story of farming life in Massachusetts and in Florida, told partly by the anonymous David, and partly by his wife Mary. There is a quiet, pastoral realism about it that is its chief charm.

Other books are to be out very shortly at this house, but I haven't time to tell you of them now, for a couple of works which deserve a much more extended notice than I can possibly give them here have just been issued by Lothrop. They are not of the juvenile character, by the way. One is the initial volume of the series which has been long promised under the title, "Lothrop's Library of Entertaining History." The subject chosen is "India," which strange and comparatively unknown land is treated in an exceedingly interesting and masterly manner by Mrs. Fannie Roper Feudge, who has spent many years of her life there and evidently has improved her opportunities. The style is pleasant and easy and the book finely gotten out, with 100 illustrations and over 600 pages of reading matter.

The other work to which I referred is the latest volume of the "Spare Minute Series," a most happy idea of culling the choicest bits from noted writers—the selections being this time from the writings of Thomas Hughes, just now so popular—though, for that matter, "Tom Brown" must always be popular. "True Manliness" is the title given the book by its compiler, Miss E. E. Brown. The introductions is ostensibly by James Russell Lowell; but it really consists of an autobiographical letter which Mr. Hughes wrote to Mr. Lowell, and which the latter presents as the introduction. It is most happily written in Mr. Hughes' freest, easiest style, and is a great feature of the book.

A most ingenious idea is that of the above-named firm in getting up a book of pictures with blank pages for short stories, to be written as suggested by the pictures by children under fourteen years of age. Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be given for the three best books. The November Wide Awake is as bright and full of interest as its cheery name always promises. It never gets tame or loses its spirits.

On Washington street, just below Franklin, and scarcely outside the literary circle that surounds the "corner," is the publishing house of Estes & Lauriat, who always have some new, bright thing on hand. Their most popular book of last year—of which 10,000 copies have been sold this fall, after all its big sales last season—was "Zigzag Journeys in Europe," by Hezekiah Butterworth, one of the Youth's Companion editors. It was written in such a charming fashion, and was so profusely and so well illustrated, that it "took" wonderfully and the success of the new "Zigzags in Classic Lands" is already made certain by the sale of 20,000 copies. "Zigzags in the Orient" is already promised for the next volume of what is now an assured series; the object of the works being to illustrate the scenery, manners, customs, history and legendary lore of different parts of the world in such a manner as to please and hold young people. The European coast of the Mediterranean is taken up in the present volume, the special idea being to stimulate classical study. The present rage for traveling has, of course, much to do with the success of these "Zigzags." Apropos, by-the-way, I have been told that the plans for the Tourjean excursions of next summer are already laid and that they include much that is new in territory, with many improvements in general arrangements, which old travelers, at all events, will appreciate. But as they are not yet announced, I will leave the subject till I can obtain some definite information.

The next publishers that I visited was the new establishment of Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. They have the very loveliest place! Situated on Park street, just below Beacon, their windows commanding one of the finest views of the common, with the fountain in the foreground and the lake—otherwise "frog pond"—glimmering through the trees in the distance. Within the rooms are no less attractive. Gotten up in the art style of the day, and with tables covered with all the best foreign and home reviews, it is decidedly pleasant to find some one "out," and have an excuse to sit in an Eastlake chair, read the "Fortnightly" and watch the celebrities who frequent the place. The firm is in the best of good spirits, which they surely can well afford. They have been publishing quite voluminously, though largely in the way of new editions of old standard works. Among their new ventures is the latest of the "Bodley Books"—great favorites with young readers—in which "Mr. Bodley Abroad" is the topic, with his letters home, and the imaginary trip across the continent which the little Bodleys take in their home pasture. The book has the same elements of sure success in it that have made the other "Bodleys" go so well.

T. B. Aldrich's "Stillwater Tragedy" is out in book form. I have not yet had time to finish it from the point which it had reached, as a serial in the May Atlantic, but it ends as well as it began. It is certainly a very fascinating story, novel in it characters and plot, and altogether pleasing in its style. A volume of "Stories and Romances" by H. E. Scudder, comprises some of the best which this facile writer has ever published. It is one of those books that you like to have lying all about, ready for an odd half hour and sure to be the right sort of reading.

A new volume of Bret Harte's works, containing all of his poems which have ever been published in book form, will be heartily welcomed, for it is a small, compact volume—diamond edition—with clear type and very chastely gotten up. The new ornamentations of the covers of Houghton & Mifflin's books, by the way, are remarkably elegant and altogether of the artistic. Nothing could be published in more exquisite taste than is the little volume of the poet Longfellow's latest poems, folk-songs and sonnets, which are collected under the title "Ultima Thule," and a similarly dainty little collection of Oliver Wendell Holmes' latest works is also put forth to tempt the lover of the beautiful in art as well as in poetry, with the title, "The Iron Gate and Other Poems."

Of the November Atlantic a word must be said in passing, for there are several particularly noticeable papers, in one of which Elizabeth Stuart Phelps considers the stirring question, "What is a Fact?" besides the always interesting editorial departments and reviews.

Last only because farthest up town, thereby following the tendency of all business in Boston at the present time, comes the house of James Osgood & Co., who have begun the season by getting out some of the most valuable books of the day. Especially is this true of the collection of biographical sketches of "Eminent English Liberals in and out of Parliament," by J. Morrison Davidson, an English barrister, who evidently knows full well of what he is writing. The sketches were first published in a London newspaper, and then in book form, in the same country. This American edition cannot fail to find its way into every library in the land, for it is exactly what our people need, and will serve charmingly as a little "poney" by which to translate English statesmanship of to-day.

Another work that is decidedly the right thing at the right time is the exposition of "American Whist," by G. W. P. The whole subject is treated scientifically, and as it is a topic over which the world has lately gone mad, the book comes most apropos.

Of "Cooking and Castle-Building" I will only say that it is the most ingenious thing in the shape of a cook-book that I ever saw. It is a practical novel, and fascinates while it instructs. Emma P. Ewing should be given the prize on cook-books. IDA CLARE.

STATE SUPREME COURT.

Opinions Rendered To-Day—The St. Louis Merchants' Mutual Benefit Society.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, November 1.—The Supreme Court rendered the following opinions this morning:

Affirmed the following: Clamorgan vs. Baden and St. Louis Railroad; First National Bank, Trenton, vs. Gillilan; McGuire vs. Wilkinson.

Reversed and remanded—Hiatt vs. Williams; Marheineke vs. Grothaus.

Reversed—Sharpe vs. Johnson & McPike, and Nicholson vs. Couch.

In the Life Association of America vs. Craven the appeal is dismissed; same entry in Rice vs. Douglas county. In State vs. Merchants' Exchange Mutual Benefit Society of St. Louis there is a judgment of ouster. The court claims that the act of March 8, 1879, was repealed by the act of May 10, 1879, and a judgement of ouster necessarily follows, Napton signing the opinion, all the judges concurring.

New Evidence on the Famous Chinese Letter.

Morey's Executor Deposes as to the Finding of the Letter—To-Day's Proceedings in the Trial of Philp.

The Evidence Complete.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, November 1.— The Star publishes the following: James A. Garfield's guilt is fully proven. The authenticity of the Morey letter established beyond a question, Garfield's denials of its authorship are shown to be untruths. The letter from Mr. Goodall, the administrator who found the Chinese letter among Mr. Morey's effects, is as follows:

NEW YORK, October 18, 1880.—Dear Sir—In administering on the effects of the late Henry L. Morey I found the enclosed letter, which I send to you with the accompanying card, which was sent to me in Lynn by somebody in this city. As an answer thereto I am of the opinion that there never has been in this country for a hundred years such a thing as "free trade." There is not much danger of it now. We have a greater danger.

I am truly yours,

JOHN W. GOODALL,
Lynn, Mass.

The Star to-day presents to the public the letter of John W. Goodall, Esq., of Lynn, Mass., the administrator of the estate of the late Henry L. Morey, testifying to the finding of Garfield's infamous Chinese cheap labor letter among the effects of the deceased. Mr. Goodall is a well-known and respected resident of Lynn, where he has lived ror many years. The letter below was accompanied by the original "Chinese" letter in Garfield's own handwriting. The original of the letter printed below is in the hands of the counsel for the defense in the Philp case, and will in all probability be produced in court to-day, where it is calculated to create a profound sensation, settling as it does the entire question of the authorship of the Chinese letter. The card of which Mr. Goodall writes and which he encloses along with the Garfield letter will also be produced and placed in evidence. The history of the "Chinese letter" is now complete and the chain of evidence against Garfield is made perfect in every link by these new disclosures. The Star commends the whole damning record to the conscientious and deliberate judgment of Democrats and Republicans alike. Despite equivocations, denials, falsifications and even attempted bribery the guilt has been brought clearly home to James A. Garfield. No man, whatever his political faith, who is a lover of honesty and good government, can afford to cast away his vote on such a candidate.

The Philp Trial To-Day.

NEW YORK, November 1.—The examination of Kenward Philp, charged with malicious libel upon James A. Garfield, was resumed before Judge Davis this morning, the defense calling to the stand S. L. Morey. He testified: I live in Lawrence, Mass., and was born in Lowell. I am a common laborer. I entered the army in 1861 and remained until 1865; here is my discharge. I know Henry L. Morey; he is my uncle. He lived in New Hampshire, in Fisherville, for some years. He afterwards traveled for a commercial house in Boston and also for a house in Philadelphia, Pa. I then lost track of him for three years, as I was in South America. On my return I saw him in the fall of 1877 and in the spring of 1878. I went to Lynn to see my stepmother and met him. I met him there both times between February and March, '79. I was in Lynn getting papers signed for my pension which I lost by not being present at the biennial examination. I went with him to the City Hall. I have seen Henry L. Morey write and know his handwriting. The signature in the register of the Kirtland House, of Lynn, Mass., as shown me, is the signature of Henry L. Morey. The date is February 29, '79. I also find his signature here under the date of October 17, 1879. It reads: "H. L. Morey, Lynn." Main street is the principal street in Lynn. My uncle in Lawrence showed me a certificate in June, 1879, I read and handed it back to him.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Clara L. Morey is my mother and is living at Lynn. I said I met Morey in Main street, and knew there is such a street. I said I saw H. L. Morey last in '79 in my brother's house in Lawrence, Mass. A. P. Clarke came to me and told me he wanted me to go to New York. He told me to go to the Democratic headquarters and I did so when I arrived here Saturday night at eleven o'clock. I came back from South America in '79. I have worked for Humphrey Bros. in Lawrence, Mass., where I live. A great many have called to see me about this matter. My statement as published was not published as I stated it. There were many defects.

Mr. Howe asked witness if he had been offered anything not to come here.

Mr. Bell objected, but the witness shouted, "Yes, sir. I was offered $100." [Laughter.]

G. B. ADAMS,

Mass, testified as follows, being examined by Col. Bliss, for the prosecution:

I am Postmaster of Lynn, Mass., and examine the letters as received from time to time. Letters from Washington do not come in New York pouches. I have never seen in our office any letter postmarked Washington having on it a New York stamp. When letters arrive I have them immediately assorted and delivered by carriers. I am generally acquainted with the names of those who receive letters in Lynn. I never heard of a person there named Henry or H. L. Morey. Since this question arose I have made efforts to discover such a person there. I have searched my carriers' books and city directories. I have looked at the registry of deaths and have conversed with many about him, but have never been able to discover any one who knew him. I do not know of the Employers' Union, that is under that name. On the general delivery letters we receive at Lynn we put stamps, and if a letter was addressed to H. L. Morey, Lynn, Mass., such a stamp would have been impressed on it. General delivery letters are marked on the lists and hung up in the office. I have with me a list which covers from the 4th to the 23rd of January, 1880. I do not find H. L. Morey's name on it. I have with me what I call my Post-office directory, which is a record of removals, etc., but I do not find his name there. He never had a box in our office. I have never seen the letter addressed to Henry L. Morey until within a week ago. There are three in the office now waiting to be called for.

Mr. Brooke stated the defense had never claimed that Morey was a resident of Lynn, though he had been there off and on in his labor movement.

Witness continuing: "In this directory—Lynn Directory—I do not find Morey's name in it. There is not in Lynn, to my knowledge, any street called Main street. In this street directory which you hand me no such street appears in the list."

Cross examined by Mr. Brooke: I know a street running from the City Hall down to the wharves across the railroad tracks. It is Market street. It is popularly known as Main street. There is also Washington street. I do not know that on some of the lamp posts is marked Washington avenue. I never look and would not like to say. This list you hand me is the list of general delivery letters. It is dated on back January 30. There is no alteration in the date. Figure 3 is not altered to my knowledge. It looks as if it had been written twice. The 25th of January is missing on the list. No list is put up on Sunday. The 25th was on Sunday. There were letters mailed from Washington to arrive at our office on late Saturday or Sunday mail. It would be delivered on Sunday without a record being kept. The Sunday office is open from 10 to 11 in the morning. Occasionally our mails have been delayed. When so delayed I do not know that in transit they are taken to the New York Post-office, but I will swear they have no New York of counsel for the prosecution, to the stand. He testified: I was a classmate of Gen. Garfield, and know him intimately, but can not say I know his handwriting.

Mr. Brooke called

"ABRAM S. HEWITT, take the stand," called Mr. Howe. He testified: I reside in New York City and do business here. I have been a member of Congress and am acquainted with Gen. Garfield and am familiar with his hand-writing. These letters I hand you are from him. There are three of them and they are signed by him. I have frequently seen his signature. The Morey letter which I have in my hand is, in my opinion, in Garfield's handwriting. I have no doubt of it any further than that a clever counterfeiter can forge any man's signature. The signature in the Morey letter is in my opinion in the handwriting of Gen. Garfield. I have compared the signature with the Jewell, Rockwell and O'Neill letter and I am more confident of the genuineness of the Morey letter than I am of the O'Neill letter. The word "company's" in the Morey letter is incorrect. In one of the letters sent me, dated May 15, the postscript is in Gen. Garfield's writing. In that postscript Gen. Garfield spells "pedigree" "pedidree."

Cross-examined by Mr. Stoughton—I first saw the original Morey letter on October 20. That evening I was to deliver an address at Chickering Hall. I saw the printed letter on that day in the Democratic National Committee rooms. Late in the day, about 2, I saw the original in the same place. I also saw the envelope and took a cursory view of it. When I was looking at the letter Messrs. Hart, Cooper, Barnum and Rockwell were present.

"Examine envelope and then swear if you do not notice an erasure?"

Hewitt—I always examine before swearing.

Mr. Stoughton—It might have been better for you if you had examined the envelope without swearing.

Mr. Hewitt—I object to any such remarks by counsel.

Stoughton—Hold that envelope up this way in the light and tell me if you notice an erasure.

Hewitt (holding it up in the light)—In the way you direct? I can't see.

Stoughton—Hold it your own way.

Mr. Hewitt—Now we will get at it. Looking at envelope with the naked eye I cannot say I notice an erasure, but looking through the glass, there seems to have been some rubbing on the ring near figure 3. I see the stamp on the reverse side and I see New York with the naked eye. With the glass I see three letters which are too blurred to be distinguished. From my observation of the envelope. That is, if the envelope was brought to me without the letter in it, there is nothing in the writing to make me confident as to who the writer was. I do not think that the envelope is in Gen. Garfield's handwriting. If I knew that a stamp not in use was on the envelope I would certainly regard it as a suspicious circumstance, and would investigate further. If I knew further that the letter came to this city and was stamped here out of the usual run, I would certainly consider it suspicious. Also, if I knew there was no employers union, it would further add to my doubts, and if I knew that no such person as H. L. Morey existed, I would have thought it very extraordinary indeed. I did not know these things at the time I made the examination and let me add that I do not know them now. My suspicions are mere assumptions. The letter produced of May 17, 1879, is in General Garfield's handwriting, as is the postscript of the letter of May 12.

Mr. Howe—Assuming that the person claimed to have written the Morey letter had publicly advocated the sentiments it contains and in Congress had by vote and speech avowed and maintained those sentiments, would not your opinion that it was signed by the person so claimed be stronger and more positive?

Objected to. Excluded. Recess.

Trouble Apprehended.

CHICAGO, November 1.—In the Circuit Court of Cook county, this morning, Judge Moran rescinded an order issued by Judge Rogers, for the appointment of 300 deputy sheriffs. The ground of the decision is that the Republican deputies alone were appointed. There seems to be some ground for apprehension that trouble will occur at the polls on Tuesday, since the Mayor has refused to recognize any right of supervisors of election to interfere in the proceedings at the polls. On the other hand Judge Drummond, of the Federal Court, in Saturday's decision on the Geisler case distinctly set forth that the election supervisors have full control in the election for representatives for Congress and must not be interfered with.

The President.

CINCINNATI, November 1.—The President and Mrs. Hayes arrived at Fremont, Ohio, at 1:30 this morning. The President will go to Washington probably on Thursday.

Embezzling $50,000.

SCRANTON, November 1.—P. K. Bargar, many years confidential clerk of Jno. Jermyns, has been found guilty of appropriating $50,000 to his own use.

Killed.

DANVILLE, VA., November 1.—John T. Keen, Mayor of North Danville, was killed by being thrown from his buggy.

Oil Mill Burned.

SHREVEPORT, LA., November 1.—Hamilton & Co.'s oil mill burned. Loss $80,000; insurance $40,000.

River Telegrams.

EVANSVILLE, November 1.—Arrived: C. W. Anderson, one a. m.: H. T. Dexter, eleven a. m. Departed: Anderson, Louisville, eleven a. m. River 4 feet 5 inches and rising, wind west. Clear and cool.

CAIRO, November 1.—Arrived: Rucker, St. Louis, 6 a. m. Departed: Joe Kinney, Vicksburg, 10 p. m.; Rucker, Paducah, 7 a. m. Clear and cool.

LOUISVILLE, November 1.—River rising slowly; 3 feet 4 inches in canal; 1 foot 4 inches in chute on falls. The canal will probably be open to-day.

CINCINNATI, November 1.—River 5 feet 3 inches and rising; weather clear and cool. Side-wheel packets resume trips to-morrow.

PITTSBURG, November 1.—River 8 feet 9, stationary. Clear and cool. C. W. Batchelor leaves at 12 m.

MEMPHIS, November 1.—River falling. Departed: E. M. Gorton, St. Louis. Clear and pleasant.

WHEELING, November 1.—River 9 feet 6 inches and rising. Weather clear and cool.

Marine.

NEW ORLEANS, November 1.—Arrived: Steamship City of Mexico, from Mexican ports.

THE hotels to-day all show very light arrivals. People are all remaining at home to vote.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

West Africa.

LONDON, November 1.—News has been received from the West Coast of Africa of the death of Chaca, Governor of Whydahs. The funeral was to be celebrated by a massacre of the natives, after which the King had announced his intention of holding the annual celebration in memory of his father. The celebration will last four months, during which two hundred captured chiefs will be beheaded. The English refused to go to the celebration.

France.

PARIS, November 1.—The further execution of the decrees against the unauthorized orders has been postponed to Wednesday on account of the festivals of All Saints and All Souls. M. Clemenceau, speaking at Marseilles, protested against the occult, irresponsible power exercised by Gambetta.

Switzerland.

BERNE, November 1.—The Nation has by a plebiscite rejected the proposed revision of the Constitution.

England.

LONDON, November 1.—Sir Thomas Bouche, the engineer of the Tay bridge, is dead.

Eastern Europe.

RAGUSA, November 1.—The Prince of Montenegro, seeing the settlement of the Dulcigno question is likely to be indefinitely protacted, has resolved to go to Italy for the winter.

THE ASTLEY BELT.

Rowell Ahead of all His Competitors—The Record Beaten.

LONDON, November 1.—In the six days' contest for the Astley belt, which began this morning at Agricultural Hall, the betting at the start was two to one against Rowell, five to two against Brown, five to one against Dobler, five to one against Pegram, eight to one against Howard, and eight to one against Littlewood. The men started at a trot. The

this morning was as follows:

Rowell, 66 miles; Brown, 61 miles, Littlewood, 53; Pegram, 51; Howard, 54; Dobler, 61. At the start there was a great race for the lead between Rowell and Brown, the former accomplishing the unprecedented feat of running fifty miles in six hours and thirty-eight minutes.

Brown has been off the track three times since the start, once for twenty-five minutes. The general opinion at present is that Rowell will win, with Dobler second.

SCORE AT 3 O'CLOCK.

Rowell, 100 miles.
Littlewood, 93 miles.
Brown, 73 miles.
Dobler, 94 miles.
Howard 77 miles.
Pegram, 71 miles.

Brown left the track at thirty-five minutes past twelve and has not yet returned. Rowell and Dobler have beaten anything on record.

FROM THE HOOSIER STATE.

Fant's Forgery—The Nationalists' Hope—Republican Rally To-Night.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., November 1.—About $4,000 more of forged paper, by F. W. Fant, has come to light. The total now is about $10,000. The banks are the principal sufferers. To-morrow the Nationals will vote their whole ticket, State and county. Under this probably a test case will be brought before the Supreme Court, in the hope that the October election will be held invalid by reason of the reversal of the decision on the Constitutional amendments case. Lawyers laugh at the move, but the Nationals are nothing, if not unique. It is freely predicted that their vote will fall off from that of the last election. To-night the Republicans will hold a last and singular rally. The court-house, which is an immense building, will be lighted from garret to cellar, and there will be speaking in every one of its dozens of rooms on the inside. Four fires will burn; bands will play and there will be a love feast and a war council all together. The business men generally will attend at the polls to-morrow by agreement. There is every promise of a full vote and a quiet election.

CITY PERSONALS.

H. F. Guthrie returned this morning from Chicago.

F. W. Crandall, of H. T. Simon & Morse, returned this morning from a trip to the country.

Col. S. H. Haynes, of the firm of E. W. Lansing & Co., 601 N. Second street, returned this morning from Memphis.

Miss Florence Carter, one the society belles of the Crescent City, is visiting her cousin, Miss Cora Baker, 3518 Lindell avenue.

The Lindell Hotel has now in its employ three old attaches of the Southern at the time of the fire: West, Austin and Harvey behind the desk, and John, the porter, in front.

Pang Sung, washee-man, left recently for Canton, China, to visit his mother. He likes St. Louis and will return in April.

Mr. John McCullough, the tragedian, was confined to his rooms at the Lindell yesterday, owing to indisposition. He has, however, entirely recovered, and is in good trim for Richard to-night.

Mr. Joseph Hord, of the Lindell clerical force, left this morning for his home in the East. In his place appears the smiling countenance of Mr. Harvey Willard, who was with the Southern Hotel at the time of the fire. Since that event Mr. Willard has resided in various parts of the country, but more recently in Denver. His old friends greeted him this morning by the hundred. He is an old and popular hotel man.

THE first duty of true Democracy is to vote for no ringsters, tricksters or jobbers—for no man who uses politics for a living and parties as a protective shield!

ABOUT TOWN.

CAPT. FOX has two children's cane chairs at the Fifth District Station awaiting an owner. They are marked "W. F. Witherel, Chicago."

THE scene of last Saturday night's negro riot, at Twelfth and Locust street, is still visited by crowds of the curious. Hunting up the places where the bullets struck is great amusement for the small boys.

THE Young Men's Christian Association will give their second musical and literary entertainment of the season to-morrow night in their parlors at Eleventh and Locust streets. The public are invited.

MR. CHARLES FORD, of the Y. M. C. A., has started a Chinese night school and is having good success cramming "readin', ritin' and rithmetic" down Washee throats. The school is held in the parsonage connected with the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday and Friday evenings. The public generally are not admitted as sight-seers, for Chinamen do not like to be observed. Mow Lin is the champion reader.

Election Bets.

The betting on the election at the Turf Exchange betokens a very lively interest in the result to-morrow. The riot of Saturday night seems to have stiffened up the Democratic cause, and even money has been offered on the success of the entire Democratic city ticket, while Mason sells even against the field instead of $10 to $8. One hundred to seventy-five dollars is still offered on Allen against Rosenblatt, with few taken, and even money on the three Districts going Democratic. Garfield has the call at $100 to $60 on the national result. On Circuit Judge $10 to $5 is offered on Horner, with no takers.

NORTH ST. LOUIS LOCALS.

The Eau Claire Lumber Company have advanced the pay of their teamsters to $4 per day.

Rev. Father Brennan, of St. Michael's Catholic Church, is arranging an elaborate essay on the planet Jupiter.

In a few days Mr. John H. Vornbrock will put a force of men at work erecting a large furniture factory on Main and Webster streets.

George Dobbins, twelve years old, has been missing from his home, 1833 North Tenth street, and has not been seen by his parents for more than a month.

The Board of Managers of the Home of the Friendless will begin their twenty-eighth annual session Thursday evening at the Union Chapel, Delmar and Grand avenue.

The steamer M. Whitmore arrived with 1,000,000 feet of rafted lumber for Schulenburg & Boeckeler. This company's steamers now retire to Quincy Bay for the winter.

To-night several aspirants will be put through the ranks of initiation in Red Cross Lodge, No. 54, Pythian Knights, and the attendance of visiting members is expected to be very large.

This morning while Eddie Hayles was playing on a "flying Dutchman" at his father's residence, 1219 Charles avenue, he fell off and sustained a fracture of his right knee cap and was also badly bruised about the body.

A few evenings ago, Rev. John Gierlow, of the Grace Church, celebrated the marriage of Will A. Rutter and Miss Belle Glenny, at the residence of the bride's parents, 2613 North Twelfth street. No cards were issued, and the event was of an entirely private character.

Yesterday morning Mary E., wife of James P. Kiely, died at the family residence, 2325 Broadway, and the burial will take place to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock from St. Michael's Church to the Calvary Cemetery. The deceased was but twenty two years of age and enjoyed the respect of all who knew her.

Yesterday evening John Wieson, alias Wesley, effected an entrance into the office of the Eau Claire Lumber Co., foot of Salisbury street, for, it is presumed, the purpose of robbery, but before he could get at work he was caught by Charles Nieroth and Charles Hagen-beger, and turned over to the Fourth District police officials.

THE largest assortment of gents' fine hand-sewed boots and shoes to be found in the city is carried by the "Famous." Every style of fashionable make known to the trade. Prices low.

Divorce Day.

A number of divorce cases came up before Judge Lindley to-day, which were placed on the default docket. The first called was that of Geo. W. Hall against his wife, Sarah E. Hall. Mr. Hall is a dealer in popcorn, and is reported by witnesses to be a man of good character. He declared that he was married in 1857, and lived with his wife until July, 1872, when she deserted him. The Judge granted the divorce.

MRS. AGNES ANDREWS

next appeared and asked that the bonds now binding her to her husband, Joseph A. Andrews, be canceled. They were married in New York, where Andrews was employed in the establishment of a photographer. They afterwards came to St. Louis, where Andrews worked with Mr. Green, the photographer. Mrs. Andrews said that she could not live with her husband on account of his brutal treatment. She testified on the stand that he struck her in the face last June. Her child, a little girl nine years old, testified to the same thing, and the decree of divorce was granted.

Margaret Richardson was the next lady given a decree. She was deserted by her husband, James D. Richardson, a street car driver, and left, according to the testimony of her landlady, with three little children and not a bite to eat in the house. The husband went to Chicago and kept house with another woman, while the wife eked out a living for herself and children by nursing at Quarantine and in the City Hospital, where she is at present. Judge Lindley allowed her $10 a month alimony and the custody of her children.

Agnes B. Teichmann vs. Carl Teichmann. Mrs. Teichmann declared that she was married in Germany, and because her husband discovered that she did not have as much money as he expected, he abused her until she was forced to leave him. Divorce granted, with restoration of maiden name.

GRAND DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

Soulard Market, To-Day, 8 P. M.

SPEAKERS:

HON. J. O. BROADHEAD.
HON. M. L. CLAREDY.

A Model Restaurant.

Mr. Aime Garnier and other gentlemen have purchased Mr. Sam. Ecker's well-known and popular restaurant at 214 and 216 North Fourth street. Mons. Garnier was the founder of the Restaurant Porcher on Ninth and Olive streets, one of the best known and most popular restaurants in the West. The reputation of all the gentlemen connected with the new venture is such that their place will at once occupy a great share of the public patronage. It will be their aim to establish a cuisine which shall be known all over the country as the very best of its kind. The new establishment will be first-class in all its appointments, and will be calculated to fill a want which the public has felt for years. It is M. Garnier's intention to fit up the house in a manner worthy of the class of patronage which he and his associates always have catered for. The rooms upon the second floor have been handsomely furnished for private dinner and supper parties. Every convenience will be found in the house, which will be renovated from top to bottom. The table ware, the silver and all the appointments will be new and creditable. St. Louis is very poor in really good restaurants, but the idea of Mr. Garnier and his partners is to make a resort which will be known as first-class in every detail. The firm are also proprietors of the beautiful suburban resort known as Delmonico Park at Union avenue and Olive street, to which Mons. Garnier will give his personal supervision in addition to the Fourth street house.

Democratic Supervisors.

A meeting of the Democratic Supervisors of election of the Second Ward was called for 12 o'clock to-day at the office of Phil. V. Taylor, 511 Pine street. The object of the meeting was to enable the ten supervisors to talk over and agree upon the best plan of action to-morrow to prevent Republican repeating in the Second Ward. Only one Supervisor, however, had put in an appearance up to 1:30 p. m., and the meeting was consequently a failure.

Withdrawn.

To the Voters of the Fifth Judicial District:

By the advice of my physician, and at the request of my family, I have concluded to withdraw my name as candidate for Constable, and I thank my friends and voters of the said district for their friendship and confidence, more especially for their action in this canvass. I am still faithfully yours,

P. FITZGERALD.

More Citizens.

The day before the election was taken advantage of this morning by about fifteen former subjects of foreign governments to become citizens of the United States. All the applicants for naturalization were Germans and Bohemians, and most of them will vote the Republican ticket to-morrow. These persons will, of course, have to make affidavit at the polls.

Notice.

To the members of St. Louis Club: The election returns will be received at the Club House Tuesday evening, the Western Union Telegraph Company having placed a wire and operator at our disposal.

D. B. GOULD,
Chairman House Committee.

MESSRS. C. LITTLE & CO. sold on 'Change to-day forty-nine shares of St. Louis Times stock at $9 per share to McNair & Tracy, acting as brokers for some unknown party. The capital stock of the Times is $125,000, or 1,250 shares of $100 each.

THE various hotel lobbies, prominent saloon entrances and street corners are thronged to-day with rather excited men talking politics.

ELECTION DAY.

How It Will be Observed—Time of Opening of the Polls—Where the Returns Will be Received.

It is a generally conced fact in and about St. Louis that to-morrow will be election day. This is a great holiday, which is observed throughout the country with as much fervor as the Fourth of July or Christmas. The world at large will devote itself to-morrow to an important and congenial task of saving the country, and everybody will pass their proper business by to let patriotism run riot.

As a brake upon the enthusiasm of the populace all the saloons in town will be closed to-morrow, and the prudent man will fill his demijohn to-night. The back door route into the average saloon will only be open to the initiated. With the let-up in the liquor traffic there will be a corresponding stoppage in every other trade. All of the merchants will close their stores. The only businesses which will be kept open will be the smaller clothing and cigar stores. The Merchants' Exchange will close its doors, and all of the members will remember the election day to make it holy. The banks, too, will close, as to-morrow is a legal holiday, and notes becoming due will have one day added to them. All of the Government offices will be shut for the day and there will be no courts in session. The municipal offices also will do no official work to-morrow, although, as may be anticipated, every man will be expected to do his duty.

The Post-office will close at ten o'clock to-morrow. The early morning delivery will be made as usual in all parts of the city. Outgoing mails will close as on Sundays, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The polls open at seven o'clock in the morning and will remain open until seven in the evening. Under the election law the supervisors will tot up the whole amount of votes cast each hour, but the amount received by each candidate will not be announced. It is not a generally known fact that people will be permitted to register at the polls. Those having a right to vote will be permitted to register.

Preparations for announcing the returns as received have been perfected at a number of places about town.

The returns will be bulletined at the newspaper offices, and a special wire will be put in at the Opera-house, where the returns will be read to the audience as received. At the theaters arrangements will probably be perfected for taking the returns. At the St. Louis Club, too, the returns will be bulletined as soon as they are received.

The Police Detail.

The full police force, both night and day platoons, will be on continuous duty all day to-morrow. The captains of the various districts have received the following order from Chief McDonough: "The Vice-President orders that the Governor's proclamation be conspicuously posted up at every voting precinct in your district on election day and that the officers be instructed to be vigilant in enforcing the provisions of the same." According to law an officer must be stationed at every precinct. This will require 244 officers, leaving as many more ready for duty. The captains have been instructed to make careful details in the different districts according to the character of the voters in the district. Where the voting will be close and the possibility of a disturbance great large squads of men will be on hand for any emergency. The men will be at their posts half an hour before the opening of the polls to-morrow in accordance to very explicit orders issued to-day. No one will be allowed to leave his assignment for any reason whatever but to make an arrest and to assist in quelling any possible disturbance in the neighborhood. The board has resolved to allow each man 40 cents for his meals, which must be procured in the immediate vicinity of the post, so that there will be no opportunity for a disturbance reaching any magnitude before it can be quelled. The men will be allowed to leave duty until they see the ballot-boxes sealed and delivered to the proper authorities.

The following is the order issued to the Police Captains to-day:

CAPT. ——:

You will have your entire command on duty during election day; each voting precinct will be in charge of a policeman from the opening to the closing of the polls and shall not be relieved until the ballots are properly counted and the boxes sealed. You will give the necessary orders to your force to-day in order that each man will take his place on the 2d inst. without confusion or loss of time. Instruct each officer thus assigned to procure his meals at his precinct, for which the Board of Police Commissioners will allow 40 cents on the coming pay-roll. You will see that the State election laws and the city ordinances relative to the same are rigidly enforced. The Governor's proclamation relative to fraudulent voting, and that of his Honor, the Mayor, in relation to drinking saloons, must be strictly enforced. You will obtain full returns from the Judges of Election at the earliest possible moment after the closing of the polls, and forward the same by messenger, without delay, to the Chestnut street station.

POLITICS ON 'CHANGE.

The Democratic Merchants Hopeful of Victory.

The Democratic members of the Exchange presented a more cheerful appearance to-day, which was in marked contrast to the depressed looks they carried around last week. For some reason or another they had recovered from their depression, and were quite sanguine over the general result. They looked and talked cheerfully and boldly, and offers to bet by Republicans on the election for President or the result in different States were snapped up quickly, especially when odds were given them; and Republicans were not willing to give the same odds as they have done. For instance, they have been betting two to one and even three to one on New York last Saturday. To-day the odds were about four to three, say $100 to $75. The same intense interest was noted in politics as during last week, and business was thereby materially interferred with, and this notwithstanding it was the first of the month and to-morrow a holiday, when the Exchange will be closed and no business transacted.

THE nobby young men of St. Louis are finding out that it is worth while to come to the "Famous" for a "fancy ulsterette"—$2 50 to $5 ain't picked up every day, but you can save that amount by visiting the Overcoat Department at the "People's Headquarters," 705 to 715 Franklin avenue.

THE DENVER RIOTS.

Attempt to Renew the Disturbances To-Day.

DENVER, November 1.—The active response of the citizens to the call of the authorities effectually checked the mob, and by midnight a very perceptible improvement was developed, which has steadily continued. Early this morning a squad of miscreants raised a disturbance near the post-office, but within ten minutes it is estimated that a thousand citizens, nearly all armed, were on the ground. All rioters at that point were arrested and sent to jail. Several hundred warrants have been sworn out by officers and between two and three hundred arrests have been made. The city is now considered absolutely secure against a revival of mob rule, and the indignation among all classes is intense and earnest. Should lawlessness show itself in any form or at any point it will undoubtedly be checked by the strongest and most convincing means employed in such emergencies.

Bank Holiday.

LONDON, November 1.—To-day is a holiday in the Bank of England and on the Stock Exchange, the first secular days of May and November being days upon which the bank makes up its balances.

For Election Day.

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The debt statement issued to-day shows the decrease of the public debt during October to be $7,105,754; cash in the treasury $203,545,486; gold certificates, $7,454,500; silver certificates, $27,113,960; certificates deposit outstanding, $8,765,000; certificates, 976,200; legal tenders outstanding, $346,681,016; fractional currency outstanding $7,181,861.

Dividend on Pennsylvania Railroad Stock.

PHILADELPHIA, November 1.—Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad this afternoon declared upon capital stock, out of profits, a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, and an extra dividend of 1 per cent, payable clear of State taxes for the purpose of distribution.

Coal Shipments.

PITTSBURG, November 1.—The totals of coal shipments are as follows: Louisville, 21 boats, 159 barges; 2,217,000 bushels. St. Louis, 200,000 of coke; Ironton, 225,000; coal at Madison, 100,000; Cincinnati, 3,054,000. Grand total, 7,796,000 bushels.

The Immigration Boom.

The Secretary of the Missouri Immigration Society to-day stated to a POST-DISPATCH reporter that immigration into this State from others was largely increasing. He had, on opening this morning's mail, found a letter from one of the largest raisers of fancy cattle in Pennsylvania, who asked him for information regarding the condition of the land in this State as far as grazing was concerned. He had heard that there was a great deal of malaria in the State, and if such was the case he would stop at home. Another man writes from Sedgwick county, Kansas, that he has formed a colony of thirty families who are anxious to come to Missouri and settle. A letter was also received from a man living in the Southern part of Nebraska, who says that if this State is what it has been represented to be, he will bring a large colony here. He has already commenced to organize a colony and immediately start for Missouri. Another communication comes from Dickinson county, Kansas, from several families desirous of coming to this State. The answer to all of these communications was, the Secretary said, in effect, "Come along, there is lots of room here for you and plenty of rich land that needs tilling."

Resigns an Office.

Gov. John S. Phelps, Jefferson City, Mo.:

SIR—As a Democratic Elector, I deem it wise to resign the position of Commissioner for Missouri to the Yorktown Centennial Celebration, kindly assigned me by you.

Grand Democratic Rally.

This evening at 8 o'clock a large Democratic meeting will be held at Soulard Market. The speakers will be Hon. James O. Broadhead and Hon. Martin L. Clardy.

IF you see a fancy ulsterette or handsome overcoat "down town," at $20 or $25, and they tell you "it is the 'tony thing' of the season, only to be had here," you can make up your mind that the same article can be had at the "Famous" for from $2 50 to $5 less.

Peace in Crackers.

The war of wholesale cracker-makers in this city, which broke out about September 4, has died a natural death, and rates on standard goods are now virtually restored to the old basis. For a while the war was very hot, and soda crackers were jobbed as low as three cents, which is much below the cost of manufacture. At first all the large bakers combined to squeeze out the small ones, who they thought ought to be confined to the limits of the retail business, but gradually this dropped off, until only one was left, and lately it got tired of cut rates and put its goods up to old figures. The public, or cracker eaters, derived little or no benefit from this war. It was all absorbed by the wholesale grocers.

SATURDAY'S SLAIN.

The Negro Riot at Lucas Market.

Official Reports of the Police Presented To-Day.

The Prisoners—The Wounded—The Inquest—Latest Facts.

The Republicans had a "grand rally" on Saturday night at Lucas Market, which terminated in a riot. The rally was prefaced by a torch-light procession through the streets, in which probably 2,000 men participated Of this number 1,500 were negroes. The negroes were mostly drunk. The morning papers seem to have overlooked the conduct of the negro processionists on the street Saturday night. On the way up Chestnut street the negroes from the western part of the city wantonly insulted women and men upon the sidewalk. At Eleventh street a carriage attempted to cross during a break in the procession. Twenty or thirty negroes immediately rushed at the horses, beat them over the head with their torches, maltreated the driver, and forced the team and vehicle back up Eleventh street, and then with drunken shouts of triumph proceeded on their way. On Fifth street they distinguished themselves by burning the manes of the Fifth street car horses as they passed, keeping up shouts of defiance and profane retorts to Democratic enthusiasts on the sidewalks, in three instances between Olive and Washington avenue negroes leaving the ranks to strike citizens. On Washington avenue they kept up their ribald conduct, and women viewing the parade were made the especial object of the profane and indecent remarks of the delirious Africans. The meeting in Lucas Market square was attended by about 5,000 people. A white man hurrahed for Hancock. A black man retorted with his torch. There was a fight for several seconds, in which a half dozen men, white and black, took parts. A pistol shot rang out. The man who fired it ran to the saloon, corner of Twelfth and Locust street, followed by a crowd of infuriated negroes and curious white men. The author of the shot escaped. Officers Seaman and Daly threw themselves before the door to keep back the crowd. Officer Slattery came to their assistance. He was knocked down by a brick, and his jaw broken. A volley of stones and pistol shots assailed the saloon. It is supposed that one of the officers fired a shot which killed a negro named Chas. Brown, a member of the Ellerdsville club. The fall of the negro maddened the mob, and fifty shots were fired. The saloon windows and doors were completely riddled. The two officers escaped with their wounded companion and then made their way to the Four Courts, and sent assistance to the scene returning with the relief, headed by Sergeants Boyd, Brown, Mueller and Campbell. Officer Joe Mason was chased to Tenth and Market streets, where the negroes sacked a drug store. The mob fled before the force of forty men, who clubbed them mercilessly. Perhaps a dozen persons were injured.

The Official Statement.

The statements of the officers concerned in the riot were forwarded to Chief of Police McDonough and the Board of Police Commissioners this morning, and are as follows. The documents will be forwarded to the Coroner, and that official will have the assistance of the police force in gathering testimony and securing the presence of the witnesses at the inquest.

CAPT. LEE'S REPORT.

ST. LOUIS, October 31, 1880.

Capt. James McDonough, Chief of Police:

SIR—I herewith respectfully report that while a political meeting was in progress last evening near Twelfth and Locust streets, Officer Slattery was struck with a brick which broke or fractured his jaw, and a negro named Chas. Brown was shot dead. I am unable to state who the offenders are, or who caused the disturbance. My impression is that an altercation took place between one or two white persons and some negroes. One of the former in fleeing ran into the saloon at the northeast corner of Twelfth and Locust streets. Many of the negroes there assembled made a rush for the saloon, and while the attack was being made on the saloon Officer Slattery was struck and Brown was killed. I left my office at about 9 p. m. and retired. About two hours later Officer Phillips called at my residence and informed me that Officer Seaman had been killed and two other officers wounded at Lucas Market. I immediately repaired to this office and from here went to Twelfth and Olive streets, where I met Sergeants Campbell and Boyd, who informed me that the crowd had been dispersed by the first platoon. For further particulars I would respectfully refer you to the reports of Sergeant Bartley and Officers Seaman, Daly and Mason, which are herewith attached.

Very respectfully, WM. LEE, Captain of Police.

SERGEANT BARTLEY'S REPORT.

ST. LOUIS, October 30.

To Capt. Wm. Lee, commanding district:

SIR—I herewith report that at about 10:30 this evening I was standing in front of the Republican meeting on Twelfth, near Olive street, when suddenly I heard two pistol shots from the neighborhood of Twelfth and Locust. Instantaneously there were forty or fifty more shots fired, accompanied by the breaking of glass. I ran as quickly as possible to the locality and found 400 or 500 men, mostly colored. I got into the crowd and found a colored man lying on the ground, blood running from his face and to all appearance dead. The colored men were in a state of great excitement. They said he was shot by a policeman and he had run into the saloon at Twelfth and Locust streets. They demanded that he be given into their hands. A white man called me aside and informed me that Officer Slattery was shot dead and was in the saloon. I went into the saloon and a volley of stones followed me. I turned and drew my revolver and ordered them to cease breaking the windows. They started to follow me into the saloon. I warned them that the first man that attempted to cross the threshold I would kill him. They backed off of the steps, saying they wanted that officer that shot the man. As I did not see any one in the saloon, I went to the dining-room. There I met a man and woman wringing their hands and crying for me to save them. I asked the man whether there was an officer shot in the saloon. He made no answer. I passed into the kitchen. There was no person in any of the rooms. I returned to the saloon in front, all the rear doors being locked, and there was no way of exit but by the front doors. I knew that I had to have assistance, and as it was near 11 o'clock I could make the Four Courts and get some of the first platoon men, and returning crush the riot. As I started for the door the colored men saw me and made a charge for the door. I pulled my revolver again and threatened as before. They demanded the officer again. I told them to come and get him, but they did not care about doing that part of the business, but still contented themselves by breaking the glass. I then went into the kitchen and tried to open one of the windows, but could not. I kicked it out and got into the yard. During all this time the colored men were shouting like demons. I met six or eight men who had sought refuge there. They asked me to stop the work going on. I told them I could not do it alone, for them to come and arm themselves and assist me or I would have to seek it at the Four Courts. Not answering me I got over the fence and ran to the Four Courts, where Sergeant Brown gathered about twenty men, who with Sergeants Boyd, Massman, Mueller, Schmittgens, Campbell and myself hastened over to the scene and dispersed the mob and restored the neighborhood to peace and quiet. An ambulance came shortly and took away the body of the dead negro. The following are witnesses to the affair: W. H. H. Russell, Jas. Campbell, Chris. W. Vogt, Chas. Boettger, John Dock, Wm. Slevin, J. M. Conroy, Wm. J. Slevin, Chas. Mehling, Dennis J. Hilly, J. A. Dott.

Very respectfully, WM. H. BARTLEY, Sergeant.

OFFICER SEAMAN'S REPORT.

Sergeant Bartley:

SIR—About 10:30 this p. m., as some of the colored men attending the meeting on Twelfth and Locust streets were leaving, some man in the crowd hurrahed for Hancock and fired a shot and then ran into the saloon at the northeast corner of Twelfth and Locust streets. Several negroes followed him in, when Officer Daly and I stopped the remainder from entering. At this juncture Officer Slattery came running up to our assistance. His reception was a half brick on and fracturing his right jaw. Officer Daly fired two shots in the air to call for assistance, I also firing one shot in the air, when an indiscriminate fire of shots, torches and bricks came from the crowd. I went to see the result of Officer Slattery's wound, and while in there a negro was killed. As I came out the crowd, or some of them, said I was the one that killed him. They made a rush for me. I was advised by some white men to leave, which I did, making my way to the Four Courts for assistance. I then returned to the scene of action, where I learned the name of the negro to be Charles Brown. I got a scratch from a pistol ball upon the side of my neck. Respectfully,

OFFICER SEAMAN.

OFFICER DANIEL B. DALY'S REPORT.

Sergeant Bartley:

SIR—I herewith report that about 10:30 p. m. yesterday (October 30th) I was standing with Officer Seaman on the northeast corner of Twelfth and Olive streets, when we were attracted by shots coming from the neighborhood of Twelfth and Locust streets. We hurried in that direction, and found about 300 colored men breaking down the door of a saloon northeast corner of Twelfth and Locust. Officer Seaman and myself got the crowd back from the door and kept them at bay. Officer Slattery arrived as they made a second attack. As Slattery was stepping on to the platform in front of the saloon he was knocked senseless by a brick bat. After getting Slattery inside of the saloon I came out on the platform and met Sergeant Blodgett, of the Fourth District. He assisted me in keeping the crowd back, but they got so desperate we could do nothing with them. I fired two shots in the air for help. Immediately brick bats and pistol shots were fired into the saloon. It became so hot that I made a retreat into the alley between Eleventh and Twelfth and Locust and Olive streets. As I was running to my place of retreat I heard the crowd shouting, "The police have killed a man." I got back to the place of riot again about five minutes afterwards and found a colored man lying dead in the streets. I could learn nothing definite how the trouble commenced, or by whom. Yours respectfully,

DANIEL B. DALY, Patrolman.

OFFICER MASON'S STATEMENT.

ST. LOUIS, October 30.

Sergeant Bartley:

I report for your information that there was a negro man came to me on the corner of Tenth and Chestnut streets at about 10:30 this p. m. and told me that there was a man shot on the corner of Twelfth and Locust streets, and for me to come there as soon as possible. I went there and found the man dead in the street and five or six hundred negroes there and most of them drunk. They told me that the man that did the shooting was inside the saloon. Some said it was a policeman, and some said it was a citizen that did the shooting. I went into the saloon and there was no one there, and when I came out the negroes took me for the man that did the shooting and commenced to throw rocks and shoot at me. I pulled my revolver and tried to keep the mob back, and I made my way down Twelfth street in the direction of Olive. When I got to Twelfth and Olive the rock and shots came so fast that I turned and shot at the mob to keep them back. I made my way to the City Hall and then sent a telegram to the Four Courts for more men. I got one hand hurt and got hit three or four times in the body with rocks, but not hurt badly. When I got to the saloon I did not see any officers there and the saloon was in the hands of a crowd of drunken negroes.

OFFICER J. B. MASON.

The Prisoners.

There are four prisoners in the custody of the police, of which the police have the following report to make: John McGinniss, arrested by Rahill, Butler and Byrnes and identified as the persons who shot John Weightman in the hand during the row. A warrant for assault to kill was sworn out against him this morning. John Giles, arrested by Armstrong and identified as a ring-leader of the gang who entered the drug store at Tenth and Market streets. A warrant for malicious destruction and trespass will probably be sworn out this afternoon. George Moberly arrested by Armstrong and Flynn upon suspicion of being the party who attempted to gut the drug store at Twelfth and Olive streets, has not been identified as yet.

Richard Francis, arrested by Officers Dan Walsh and Dixon, and identified as one of the gang who attempted to burn and demolish the drug store at the corner of Tenth and Market streets. A brass scale weight, taken from the drug-store, was found in Francis' coat pocket.

The Inquest.

Coroner Auler concluded yesterday afternoon that he would not commence the inquest upon the body of the negro Brown until Wednesday morning, as the examination will probably consume several days, if not a week. It is expected that after to-morrow the Deputy Coroner will have time to hunt up the witnesses.

The Police Board.

There will be no examination of this matter by the Board of Police Commissioners. Indeed they do not see that they have anything to examine. They have issued orders to the Captains to render the Coroner every assistance, and hope in this manner to have all the facts brought out, and the responsibility for the outbreak properly located.

The Wounded.

At two o'clock to-day Officer Slattery was resting easily under care of Dr. Hodgen. He is in danger of lockjaw, which would prove fatal.

Simmons, an old colored man with a fractured skull, is thought to be out of danger.

Officer Mason has recovered from his nervous prostration and fright.

MARDI GRAS.

St. Louis to Have a Carnival Unsurpassed in the Country.

For some time past arrangements have been in progress to celebrate the Mardi Gras in St. Louis this winter in the manner that it is always done in New Orleans, Mobile and other Southern cities. At first the leaders of the movement kept it very private, for they were not sure of its success, but now they have gone far enough to be able to announce that St. Louis will see next Mardi Gras day celebrated in as hilarious and as gorgeous a style as New Orleans ever witnessed in its palmiest years. A large number of prominent citizens have enlisted in the movement and an organization has been perfected. Several meetings have been held in which the greatest enthusiasm was displayed. A superintendent of the entire ceremonies has been appointed, and he is one who is eminently fitted for the position, having had several years of experience in the New Orleans and Mobile displays. Appropriate committees have also been appointed to assist the superintendent, and they are already busy with their respective departments. There will be a grand street procession, somewhat in the style of the Veiled Prophets' parade, in which a subject is chosen and then illustrated by a number of floats or moving tableaux. Succeeding the procession there will be grand tableau given in one of the theaters, and last of all a grand ball at the Merchants' Exchange Hall. It is intended to make the display surpass that of the great V. P., and the necessary pecuniary subscriptions have already been obtained to do so. The subject of illustration for the street pageant has already been selected, but will no be divulged for a long time yet. The organization will be known to the public as the mystical 'De R. I. S.'' Special rates have been obtained from the various railroads and steamboat lines. The whole day will be devoted to the carnival, and carnival license will be obtained from the Mayor—that is to say, people may go about the city in costume or in mask by day as well as night, and cut up such harmless street antics as they please for the whole space of twenty-four hours.

Tearing Down the Planters' House.

When Mr. Gerardi leased the Planters' House, he had a clause incorporated in the lease, that the Planters' House Company should make certain improvements. Clay Sexton, Chief of the Fire Department, examined the building and ordered that the entire Pine street side be torn down, as the building was unsafe. This morning the workmen commenced operations in the dining-room, and Mr. Gerardi appeared with a squad of police and ordered all the workmen arrested, which was accordingly done. The case will be tried next Wednesday, with Jeff Chandler and B. R. Davenport as attorneys.

Important to Benevolent Societies.

The effect of the judgment of ouster rendered by the Supreme Court in the cases against the Merchants' Benevolent Society of this city and the National Temperance Relief Union of St. Joseph, is that all co operatives organized prior to August, 1879, are not authorized to afford relief to members by means of contracts based on the lives of members. It is the general opinion of attorneys that it will compel all societies called benevolent to reorganize and leave that feature out. Societies like the Masonic Benevolent and Odd Fellows' Mutual Aid are within the scope of this decision and will be seriously affected.

On 'Change.

Private cables were encouraging to-day, reporting higher and firm markets in England. Our Liverpool special reported a large speculative demand for wheat, with only enough stock on hand for a fortnight's consumption.

Notices of delivery on wheat contracts for November were large to-day, about all the shorts, who have been carrying the cash grain against their sales of this month, delivering the stuff, and it was expected most of the contracts would be filled out by close of the day. The greater portion of the wheat ended at a speculative operator, who has it sold for December. None of it went to exporters, who, on the contrary, made quite liberal deliveries. Corn deliveries were larger, too, and most of this grain went to a leading commission firm. As the stock of oats was small, there was not a great deal sent out, but this went around enough to end a considerable number of November contracts.

The wheat market was not at all depressed by the large deliveries on November contracts. On the contrary, the feeling was generally very strong. This was in part due to the very active demand for cash No. 2 red, which was sharply competed for by speculators and exporters, the urgency of these buyers running it up in price too. Sales at the regular call of this grade amounted to about 160 cars and 60,000 bushels, or a total of about 135,000 bushels.

The February deal in wheat was opened to-day at a premium of 2c over January. A city miller was the party who went short the larger part that sold.

As to-morrow is a legal holiday the Merchants' and Cotton Exchange, the banks and all wholesale business houses will be closed to business. Of course the POST-DISPATCH will be without its usual commercial and financial reports.

The Markets.

MORNING BOARD.

Flour firmer and in demand, but not quotably higher and no particular activity. We quote: Fancy $5 20@5 55; choice $4 90@5 10; family $4 60@4 80; xxx $4 25@4 50; xx $3 65@3 90; x $3 30@3 45; superfine $3 10@3 25; fine $2 65@2 85.

Wheat—Stiff and higher. Demand very active for grades, and sales heavy, No. 2 red going to speculators and exporters at $1 00⅞@1 01¾; No. 3 red to Eastern shippers at 94@94⅞ this and 95¼@96 east side, the same parties taking No. 4 at 89½@90¼; rejected was salable at 83½; No. 2 Mediterranean at 99 and No. 3 do at 94½. Futures were strong all through, with an almost steady advance. November sold at $1 00⅞@1 01¾, and late $1 01¾ was bid; December $1 04@1 05, closing at $1 04⅞@1 05; January at $1 06@1 07⅞; February at 1 08⅛@1 09⅛.

Corn—With little change to note in prices, the market ruled right firm. No. 2 was in speculative and export request at 39¼@39½; No. 2 white mixed sold on orders at 39½ and rejected at 38 to 37½; rejected white mixed salable at 38. Futures were dull, as operators gave most attention to wheat. November and year sold at 39¼; December 39¾ and May at 44, while 44@¼ was bid late for latter; for January 39¾ was bid and 40¼ bid for February.

Oats strong. For cash No. 2 there was a sharp speculative demand that advanced it from 29⅛ to 29¾. No. 2 white was salable at 30, and rejected sold at 28½. Futures ruled quiet, the only trading being in December at 30¾. November had 29¼, year 29, and May 34⅞ bid, with no sellers.

Barley—Extremely dull. Buyers standing off, but sellers holding very firmly. Very little business. We quote: Rejected, 50@55c; No. 3, 60@65; prime, 75@80; choice, 85@90; fancy, 95c@$1; Canada, 95@1 05.

Rye—Better and in strong order demand: No. 2 selling at 85.

Hay—The heaviest receipts of any one day for years past had a depressing effect and prices declined. Demand very fair. We quote: Prairie $9 50@10 50; mixed $12@13; prime timothy $13 50@14 50; choice do $15@15 50; fancy do $16.

Millfeed scarce and stiff at 67c at mills, with an urgent demand.

Provisions—Business very small owing to the paucity of offerings. Pork sold at $14. Lard nominal at about 7⅞c. Packed bacon weaker at 5⅛c for shoulders, 8.65@8.70c for clear ribs and 9@9.10c for short clear. In loose dry salt meats there was nothing done, but it was nominally quotable at about 15c below the figures paid for packed, which were 5c for shoulders, 7.60@7⅝c for long clear, 7⅞c for clear ribs and 8c for short clear. Tallow 5⅛@5⅜c, according to quality. Breakfast bacon 10@11c. Grease, 3⅞@4⅛c for brown, 4⅛@5c for yellow, 5⅛@5⅜c for white. Beef—Extra mess $12 per brl; prime mess $9 50 per brl; family $7 per half-brl; dried 9⅛@10c per lb. Fresh smoked tongues $4 75@5 per doz. Salt $1 25@1 30 for domestic.

AFTERNOON BOARD.

Wheat higher and strong. November sold at $1 02¼; December at $1 05⅛, and January at $1 07⅛@1 07⅞. Bids of $1 02⅛ cash, $1 02⅞ year and $1 09¾ January.

Corn—Stiff and better. November sold at 39⅛ to 39⅞@⅛, and May at 44⅛. Bids of 39⅛@⅝ December, 39¼ year, 39⅞ Januar, 40 February.

Oats—Bids of 29¼ cash, 29¾ November, 30⅝ December, 29⅝ year.

The Cotton Market.

Spots continue easy, although no change was made in official quotations. Sales were 1664 bales. Futures dull, with bids of 10.28c November and December, 10.44c January, 10,51c February, 10.67c March, 10.76c April, 10.90c May. New York quiet. Liverpool 1-1 d lower, but more doing.

Country Produce.

BUTTER—We quote: Creamery—Fancy 31 choice 29@30; seconds 27@28. Dairy—Fancy 26; choice 24@25; medium 13@16; prime 17@18; low grade 11@13; and near-by make 11@15, top rate for fancy. Roll—11@15c for near-by; 16@18c for Northern.

EGGS Sales of fresh at 20.

LIVE POULTRY—Sales: Old Chickens—Cocks $1 40@1 50; mixed $1 60@1 75; hens $2@2 25. Springs—Small $1 00; medium $1 25@1 50. choice $1 75. Ducks $1 25@1 75. Geese $3@4. Turkeys—Small to medium $5@8; choice to fancy large $9. Dressed—Turkeys 9@11½c ₩ lb geese ducks and chicken 15@25 higher than live.

CATTLE—Offerings were fair and comprised mainly of mixed butchers' stuff, which found ready sale at strong prices. The demand from all classes of buyers was quite urgent, and fully twice the number offered could have found sale were these in the pens. Shippers and exporters could not enter the market to any extent for want of stock, and were disappointed. Milch cows with calves scarce and wanted. Stock cattle slow. By noon the pens were pretty well cleared. Ruling quotations firm.

HOGS—Receipts light, and prices were in consequence fully 5@10c per 100 lbs higher on all grades. Demand from shippers and packers quite urgent; Yorkers and Baltimores $4 55@4 65; mixed packing $4 30@4 50; butchers and select $4 70@4 85.

SHEEP—Steady and unchanged. Good sheep in demand on local butcher account. Supply scant and mainly of common and medium mixed grades, which found ready sale for want of anything better.

Quote choice to extra $3 75 to $4; fair to good $3 25 to $3 75; medium to fair $3 to $3 25. Stock sheep $2 50@2 75. Scabby natives and Texas stockers not wanted. Lambs $1 50 to $3 per head.

THE political barometer shows that the feeling in Democratic circles is more hopeful than it was a week ago.

THE great work of crushing Truth to earth goes on. The Republicans are familiar with that sort of business.

EVERYBODY is expected to rally to-morrow, and to keep on rallying until the question of the Presidency is settled.

THERE was a stench in the streets last Saturday night. Behind the odor of the coal oil one could detect the fragrance of Mr. Rosenblatt's money.

A DISPATCH from Washington says that 5,000 Republican clerks have been sent into close States to vote to-morrow. They want to reform the Civil Service.

NEAL DOW, the Temperance candidate for President, denies that he has withdrawn in favor of Garfield. This restores the canvass to its original proportions.

EX-GOV. SPRAGUE reopened the Canonchet matter too late to effect the canvass. He should have taken the stump in Indiana while Conkling was filling the State with his forensic melody.

IN the face of the Peril which now confronts the country, Mr. George William Curtis is found holding up the imperial train of Gen. Grant in New York. This ought to be astonishing, but it isn't.

HAYES has issued a proclamation of Thanksgiving, dated at Washington, when everybody knows that he hasn't had his foot inside the Executive Mansion for nearly two months. Is this another fraud?

THE conviction of Philp, the alleged Forger of the Chinese letter, can do no good now, but the trial has broken the force of the publication, and that's all the Republican managers were after, you know.

GARFIELD has made solemn oath before a Cleveland notary that he neither wrote nor authorized any one to write the Morey letter. Heretofore his simple affirmation has been found to be fully equal to his most emphatic oath.

EVERY man entitled to vote should exercise his proud privilege to-morrow. If the Republicans succeed in fastening themselves upon the country again, they may conclude to dispense with the present inconvenient method of electing an Executive.

GRANT is not in favor of Chinese importation. He brought a Japanese valet with him when he returned from his visit to the royal families of the Old World. The Japanese are cheap workmen but they demand and receive better wages than the Mongolian lepers.

ONE of the very best speeches delivered in Missouri during the campaign was that made at Sedalia by Mr. Alexander Cochrane, formerly a member of Congress from Pennsylvania, but now a resident of St. Louis. Mr. Cochrane is still a young man and his sterling character, his natural talents and his popular address predestine for him a prominent position in the Democracy of this city and State.

THE free-trade record of Thomas Allen, of Pittsfield and the Iron Mountain Road, seems to be hurting his prospects of election in St. Louis. Mr. Allen is much superior in every respect to Rosenblatt, his Republican competitor, whose chief accomplishment is a skill in political management that has filled his pockets with the fastest kind of fees.—[Springfield, Mass., Republican.

The Republican is needlessly alarmed. Mr. Allen will be elected by at least 3,000 majority. Rosenblatt's canvass is based upon brag and bluster. When the Board of Revisors struck off the 6,200 fraudulently registered names Rosey's political head went off, and his chance vanished forever. Mr. Tilden's majority in the district was 3,146. Mr. Allen has lived here forty years, and is identified with so many material interests and powerful corporations that his majority should be nearer 5,000 than 3,000.

THE Republican State Committee of New York claims that Garfield will reach Harlem River with 95,000 majority, and that the Democrats will not have more than 65,000 majority in the five counties southward. The Democrats, on the other hand claim a majority of at least 85,000 in these five counties and do not concede more than 75,000 Republican majority in the interior. It will be very close.

WE have a slight favor to ask of the Democrat who proposes to scratch a Democratic candidate for Congress in St. Louis to-morrow. It is that he read this paragraph from this morning's issue of the Radical organ of Missouri:

Men and brethren, give us another chance at the House and Senate and we'll show you how to pass laws calculated to keep the Republican party in power.

The Republican party for twelve years did nothing but legislate to keep itself in power. Despite all its knavery and reckless disregard of the rights of a minority, the people drove it from the National Capital. The threat is now made that a restoration means that laws will be passed which will forever disfranchise the Democratic party and deprive it of all voice in the control of public affairs. Are we prepared for this sort of thing?

PLAIN POINTS.

We believe in party men, but not in party slaves.

We believe in voting for party candidates where they represent a principle, but we do not believe in asking men to take a piece of paper according to its label and put it into the ballot box, no matter how unworthy and unfit some of the candidates may be.

The cry raised in favor of a "straight ticket and no scratch" is a cry in favor of giving to political rings the exclusive monopoly of making all nominations, and to the voters no other privilege than to vote for them.

The cry in favor of the "whole ticket and nothing but the ticket" is based upon the idea that most people are unmitigated fools, who go to the polls without mind, thought, will, or opinion, without ears to hear, eyes to read, or manhood to act for themselves, simply to put into the ballot-box a piece of paper according to its label.

People who do their own thinking will carefully examine their ballot before they cast it. Presidentially, they will vote for the Hancock electors without a scratch because that represents the best interests of the Republic. Gubernatorially they will vote for Col. Critenden (and the whole Democratic ticket) because that represents undoubtedly the best interests of the State. Congressionally they will vote for Allen and Frost, because they unquestionably represent the best interests of both their city, their country and their party. But locally they will, for the various city offices, vote for the best men, regardless of politics, because there is no political principle whatever involved in the question who shall be Sheriff, Constable or member of the Legislature.

The man who votes for the whole ticket without a scratch, no matter how unfit some candidates may be, is not a party man but a party fool and sets a premium upon rings and the fixing and foul huckstering of nominations.

We say: Be party men, but not idiotic party fools. Examine your tickets before you cast them, and if you find any taint of rings or political rascals, scratch—scratch—scratch!

A FALLACY.

No men in the country are so much interested in the supremacy of the sound Democratic doctrine of "tariff for revenue only" as the very Workingmen in whose behalf the Protectionists are distressing themselves. No workingmen in the country occupy such critical positions as the skilled iron laborers in Pennsylvania. The iron interest has been so stimulated and protected by class legislation that thousands of capitalists have been induced to put their money in furnaces and mills. The productive capacity is greatly in excess of the demand, and as a result the market is being continually glutted. This causes a shutting-down and a general suspension periodically. Strikes, disaffection and quarrels between the employers and the employed are of constant occurrence and the iron-makers of Pennsylvania, despite their good wages, are no more able to accumulate from year to year than their brethren of steadier vocations in quarters less favored by the Protectionists. Besides this, protection, while it may tend to keep up wages, keeps up the price of everything else in exact proportion, and the workingman who receives five dollars for a day's labor and pays four for his living is no better off than if he received three dollars and lived for two. It is the purchasing power of the day's wages which counts. The demagogical talk about the pauperized labor of Great Britain, which attributes low wages to the existing system of free trade, is all bosh. Excessive population and the struggle for existence consequent thereto is what has reduced the income of the British laborer, and the same thing will happen here when populousness makes men's bread and butter paramount to all else. Germany enjoys a magnificent protective system, and we all know the condition of her labor market.

But one of the worst evils of our exaggerated Protection is that it builds up monopolies which are able to crush out competition, and as a result small manufacturers, who might be giving employment to workingmen all over the country, are undersold and driven out of the field by men who have amassed great fortunes through the bounty afforded by Protection. New England is filled with manufacturers, fattened by Protection, who can send their goods to Missouri to-day and stifle the enterprise of our small manufacturers.

The Workingman who studies this question closely must at once see the fallacy of the doctrine of building up special interests at the expense of the great mass. He must conclude, if he is a man of practical sense, that our only safety as an industrial people is in the Democratic doctrine of a tariff for revenue only, so judiciously distributed as to afford support for the Government and amply guard our manufacturers against unjust foreign competition. Protection as understood and practiced by New England is a mill-stone about the neck of the Nation.

THE REPUBLICAN'S IDEA ABOUT TRUTH.

A truly good and pure man, persecuted only by the bad and unscrupulous, is—Dan Able. So says the Republican. We have never yet heard that either Mr. Able himself or any of his friends denied his connection with the gigantic Hannibal and St. Joe steal. Mr. Able was named by the official report of the Legislative Committee as one of those who handled a corruption fund of about $100,000. Mr. Able in his testimony admitted to have received part of that money. We give him the benefit of the Republican's editorial certificate of character:

[Republican's Editorial Sunday.]	[Official Report Legislative Committee.]
We are giving Capt. Dan Able a hearty support for the State Senate, and hope to chronicle his election next Wednesday morning. There is probably no man in St. Louis more familiar with the details of legislation than he, or one more thoroughly acquainted with our local wants. He has enemies who are unscrupulous, and some of them are about as corrupt as can be, but we have not the least doubt that Dan Able will prove an honest, useful and efficient member.	There can be no doubt that the enormous sum of $98,509 23 was expended in securing the passage of the renewal bond bill and the subsequent defeat of the repeal act. Though the committee have been unable to develop all the facts in the case, they have succeeded to an extent which reveals a chapter of bribery and corruption hitherto unknown in the annals of legislation in this State.

By the way, how much did the Republican itself get from the Hannibal and St. Joe slush—for advertising, of course?

UP to last Saturday night the campaign in St. Louis had been conducted with great forbearance and circumspection, and almost without excitement. The Republican procession of torch-bearers, composed mainly of negroes, seemed to stir up the usual amount of bad blood, and the riot in Lucas Market space, resulting in the killing of a colored man and the wounding of a dozen or so whites and blacks, was a sort of natural culmination. But for the prompt action of the police, the whole city might have been turned into pandemonium. As is the case always, it is difficult to fix the responsibility for this outbreak. The rowdies who interrupted the Republican speakers with their shouts for Hancock were probably no more to blame than the ferocious blacks who were so ready to resent the slightest demonstration of disapproval. It is a peculiarity of the colored voter that he is very jealous of his political privileges. When he gets a torch in his hand, an oil-cloth cape on his back and a few drinks of whisky in his stomach he naturally concludes he is a soldier and that somebody is to be punished. He cannot parade the streets and listen to the jeers and shouts of his political opponents without manifesting a desire to hurt somebody. The procession last Saturday night was distinguished by its manifest disposition to bulldoze dissenters on the sidewalk. Of course no defense can be made of the interference with the meeting in Lucas Market space, but the subsequent conduct of the negroes, their vicious assaults upon the police and their evident determination to sack the city was such as to disgust all thoughtful men. If the incident had any effect whatever politically it was to drive wavering Democrats back into the lines. There will be less scratching to-morrow than there would have been if the Republicans had not exposed their weakness and wasted their money in a foolish parade.

HON. THOMAS T. CRITTENDEN has added much to his excellent fame and reputation by the vigorous and manly campaign which he has made as the standard-bearer of the Missouri Democracy. His speeches have everywhere been courteous and respectful, and his personality has imparted much dignity to the canvass. He has exerted himself most in the close Congressional districts, the last hours of the campaign having been spent in behalf of Mr. Frost, of the Third, who was not an original Crittenden man, as will be remembered. This consideration for party interests and his disposition at all times to make sacrifices for the general good has made Mr. Crittenden hosts of additional friends. His labors are concluded, and to-morrow Missouri will proceed to treat herself to one of the most popular Governors that ever sat in the executive chair. The majority will not be less than 50,000.

OUT in Denver, where the Chinese have gained a foothold, the "irrepressible conflict" has assumed a violent form. The introduction of the alleged Garfield letter into local politics brought on a disgraceful riot yesterday and a very ambitious attempt was made to exterminate the Celestial subjects in that quarter. One Chinaman was lynched and a number were beaten and maltreated, and their opium dens and laundries were subjected to much rough treatment. In a free land like this such exhibitions are simply shameful; but when race prejudices, backed by a conflict between labor, are appealed to, the result is the same in all climates and under all conditions. This Denver emeute affords a faint idea of what would have happened in the land if the Republican party had placed itself squarely on the platform of Chinese immigration this year.

THAT was a very interesting game of euchre which was played out at Old Mines, St. Francois county, the other day. Judge Sporleder had the right bower and the nine spot of trumps and a lay ace. It was his deal and a queen was turned up. Mr. Higginbottom, who was the elder hand, had a seven of trumps and ordered the queen up for a bridge, as his side was six and Judge Sporleder had seven to go. The Judge's partner had a ten of trumps, and Mr. Quealy, who was playing opposite Mr. Higginbottom, had the joker, the left bower, the ace, the king and the eight of trumps, and was waiting for a chance to go alone. When Higginbottom ordered the Judge up Quealy sniffed and said that Higginbottom didn't know any more about euchre than a hog, and that he ought to confine himself to marbles as a game calculated for the feeblest intellect. Higginbottam replied that Quealy was a liar, and that, further, there was an indictment against him for perjury in Cape Girardeau county. Judge Sporleder attempted to pour oil upon the troubled waters, but was told by Higginbottom that he was an ass, and by Quealy that he was a thief, and they both made several other derogatory remarks about him which induced the statement on his part that Higginbottom was a low, ignorant dog, and that Quealy's family had nigger blood in it. He said further that he was only in the habit of playing with gentlemen, and arising from his chair grabbed the stakes. To this both Quealy and Higginbottom objected, but the Judge's partner, whose name is not given, hit Higginbottom on the head with the coal oil lamp and in the darkness which ensued knocked the Judge down and stamped on him by mistake. Quealy and Higginbottom clinched and stabbed each other as much as seventeen times, and the fact that the house caught fire by the oil from the broken lamp running into the fire place draws an impenetrable veil over the termination of the fight between the Judge and his partner. Euchre is a very interesting game.

JACOB SIEBER, who lives at Greenville, New Jersey, has given an evidence of pluck and nerve that goes beyond anything developed this year. He slipped and fell on the streets, breaking his leg with a compound fracture. He had had trouble with the leg before, and it was stiff and partly unserviceable; so he sat down upon the curbstone and, drawing his knife, deliberately began to hack off the offending limb. A crowd of people at once gathered about him, but he would not stop for any remonstrance, and the very determined manner in which he was slicing his own leg made the by-standers chary of interrupting him. When he had the limb severed he put it under his arm, hopped to a car and rode home. The case was mentioned to the authorities, and subsequent inquiry evinced the fact that the leg was of cork.

APROPOS of Mary Anderson's appearance in New York in the play of "Ion," the Times repeats the story that John McCullough is studying it with a view to producing it in London during his engagement next spring. The play was written by Thomas Noon Talfourd for Macready, who made something of a success in it, though he was forty-three years of age at the time, and the hero is represented as a mere youth. It may be timely to remark that Mr. McCullough never thought of playing the part. The report to this effect originated through a stupid blunder on the part of a London journalist last summer. Mr. McCullough, who is essentially formed for the robust and classic school, might as well talk of appearing as "Le Petit Duc" as to think of making a London hit in the turgid and effeminate character of "Ion."

THE Cincinnati Commercial suggests that he Woman's Righters ought to discuss the relations of the actress Bernhardt to society. Sarah, the Slender, is fond of children and declines to have a husband. She thinks, as she puts it, that she has a right to as many children as she wants without surrendering her sovereignty. The question that she raises, the Commercial thinks, would be a thrilling theme for the next convention of the advanced thinkers. Several sermons will probably be squandered on the subject.

THE canned goods trade is said to be looking up. The canned goods trade is at the present time the most comprehensive industry on the books. Everything is now potted from missionary to sweet corn, from sardines to picalily. In short the case may be stated in the words of the old saw—what man has done, that man canned too.

EVERYBODY seems to be rallying now. The man who neglects to rally in some shape or another is a base churl whom it were flattery to call a Snark.

PERSONAL.

—When last heard from Carlotta Patti was concertizing India and en route to Egypt.

—Mr. Pearson, of London, has discovered in a weekly newspaper of 1812 a political ode by Lord Byron not hitherto known to be his. Look out for roorkacks.

—M. Carl Steen Andersen Billie is the name of the newly-appointed Danish Minister to this country. This is the loveliest way of spelling Bill Anderson we have seen recently.

—"Buck" Grant and Miss Fanny Chaffee, daughter of ex-Senator Chaffee, of Colorado, arrived in Fulton, N. Y., last Saturday, and were guests of Mrs. Samual F. Case, of that city. Is this the young lady who cut out Miss Flood?

—The widow of ex-President Millard Fillmore is dangerously ill at her home in Buffalo. About a week ago she received a severe stroke of paralysis which rendered powerless one side of her body and very nearly deprived her of the faculty of speech.

—Miss Kate Field has visited Europe, and has been successful in arranging with Mr. Anthony Pulbrook, the founder of the London Ladies' Dress Association, to visit New York and start the association of that city in connection with the parent establishment, but each as a separate undertaking. Mr. Pulbrook expects to leave England early in November, and on his arrival the public will be informed of the manner in which the association will be conducted.

—Clara Morris is playing "Alixe" at one of the New York theaters. The Sun says: "The house was crowded with enthusiastic friends, anxious to welcome her return after so long an absence, and she was received with every demonstration of pleasure. Miss Morris' appearance in part confirms her reputation as an invalid, but her acting discloses neither physical nor other weakness. It never was stronger or more impressive than last evening, and never produced a more marked effect upon any audience that she has had.

How New York Got Its Obelisk.

From the American Machinist.

A few days since the corner stone of the foundation for the Egyptian obelisk, recently brought to this country, was laid with appropriate ceremonies in New York. The project of bringing this ancient monument to New York City had its origin in a suggestion of Mr. Louis Sterne, an American mechanical engineer, long resident in London, England, to Mr. Hurlbert, editor of the World, in October, 1877. This suggestion was immediately given to the public, through the columns of that newspaper. A question arose as to how the large cost of transporting the obelisk here should be defrayed. A wealthy American citizen volunteered to give $75,000 for its transportion and erection in this city. The enterprise was finally undertaken by Lieut.-Commander H. H. Gorringe, of the United States Navy, to whom belongs the credit of the success of the enterprise. To Mr. Sterne undoubtedly belongs the credit of setting this enterprise on foot, and enabling us to possess one of the finest ancient monuments in existence.

THE first duty of true Democracy is to vote for no ringsters, tricksters or jobbers—for no man who uses politics for a living and parties as a protective shield!

Turnips in England.

From the New York Sun.

The other day, in England, a half-starved boy was convicted of stealing a turnip, valued at one penny. He pleaded that he took it because he was hungry. He was sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment, with hard labor. If some law could only commit the magistrate to twenty-eight days on hard turnips, it would be a good thing.

The Problem Disposed Of.

PUBLIC OPINION.

A Straw.

ST. LOUIS, October 30.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In order to discover the sentiment of the "rising generation" of the Future Great, a few of the students of the St. Louis University took a ballot among the members of the higher classes upon the issue of the present campaign. The result is given below, and we feel assured that it is a good forecast of the coming election. Hancock, 158; Garfield, 19; Weaver, 3. STUDENTS.

Human Knowledge.

ST. LOUIS, November 1, 1880.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Please answer through your valuable paper the following questions:

1. Has the regular Army and Navy a right to vote in a Presidential election?

2. Has the District of Columbia a right to vote for President and Vice-President in a general election? SUBSCRIBER.

[The officers and men of the regular Army and Navy can only vote like other people—where they have a legal residence. Citizens of the District of Columbia do not have the right of suffrage. The District has no voice in choosing a President. It is a Territory.—ED. P.-D.

Solid on Political Predictions.

ARNO, DOUGLAS CO., October 15, 1880.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Enclosed you will find postage stamps for which you will send the POST-DISPATCH to the address of J. F. Sivils, Arno, Douglas county, Mo., for the length of time they will pay for. I wish also to congratulate you on the success of the P.-D. It suits me to a dot, and deserves the high rank it has already taken in the party press. Your estimates as to the results of elections, conventions, etc., show clear political foresight. As you were right in your views on the Indiana election, I won't hesitate to bet on anything you may predict in future.

Again let me congratulate you and wish for the continued success of Jo. Pulitzer and the P.-D. P. A. MALLOY.

Rosenblatt and Protection.

ST. LOUIS, October 28, 1880.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As there has been a great deal said about the tariff question, and my attention having been especially called to a poster extensively circulated and conspicuously posted through the Second District, by M. A. Rosenblatt, Republican candidate for Congress, and his party, asking the voters to choose between the Democratic candidate, who favors a tariff for revenue only, and M. A. Rosenblatt, the Republican candidate for Congress, who favors a high tariff for the protection of American labor against pauper products, now I want to ask the Republican candidate for Congress in the Second District, what protection do he and his party offer American labor? Through their much talked of protective tariff, against the pauper himself, and not his products, or against pauper inflation, do they propose to protect the American labor, as they have protected it for the last fifteen years, by a system of high tariff for the especial benefit and protection of a certain class, the favored few, the large manufacturers and monopolies, that they may practice extortion upon the people by charging two or three prices for their goods and be protected from having to compete with the manufacturers in Europe, thereby making the rich richer, and bring about the centralization of all the wealth of the country in the hands of a few of this much favored class, and at the same time favoring the importation of Chinese cheap labor and the paupers of all the old countries, without limit or restriction, for the purpose of competing with the American laborer for his job in the factories of these favored few whom the high tariff especially protects? If that is the kind of protection the Republican candidate in the Second District and his party offer to American labor, it is an insult to every workingman. A more unjust and wicked cry to mislead the American laborer against his own interest was never attempted. Every workingman in the United States that knows anything ought to know that what is sauce for the goose should also be sauce for the gander, and if the large manufacturers by right should be protected from having to compete with the manufacturer of other countries, the American laborers should be equally protected from having to compete with the paupers of all the world for his daily wages, and I would appeal to every workingman or laborer, whether he be American by birth or adoption, for we are all affected in this matter alike, to be warned and consider the danger of supporting any party that will so discriminate in favor of the few (the moneyed power) and against the many, the workingmen. Now the workingman or laborer who will vote to continue in power such a party is an enemy to his country, to his dearest family, to himself and every principle of justice.

Respectfully,
O. M. BONNEY.

INSTEAD of going to an asylum for imbeciles or inebriates, Jimmy Stanton wants to go to the Legislature. His election would not only be an injury and disgrace to the city, but make her ridiculous before the whole State. Respectable Democrats of the First, Third, Tenth and Seventeenth Wards will do well to scratch Stanton.

A Close Calculation.

"The census man" calculates that there are 22,782 babies in St. Louis, and that they would all be happier if they had one of those beautiful, fur-trimmed, satin-finished Esquimaux hats that they sell at the FAMOUS for $1. They are "pretty as a picture."

SARAH AND CLARA.

The Great Bernhardt Pays Homage to the Foremost American Actress.

From the New York Sun. 29th.

Mlle. Bernhardt went last evening to see Clara Morris play the part of Alixe in the play of "The Countess de Somerive." Before she permitted herself this pleasure she did some business with her trunks, rising in time to go to Booth's Theater at 10:30 o'clock for that purpose. An inspection was made of the baggage which the actress brought with her, but the goods which the appraiser thought would be susceptible of the customs tax were so numerous that no immediate estimate was given. It is presumed that the question will be settled to-day, and that the amount which the Custom-house will call upon the Bernhardt to pay will be announced. Her manager says that it is already decided that there will be some duties to pay, and that he is already decided to enter a protest. Mlle. Bernhardt, in addition to attending to her trunks, went shopping in a small way, and visited a piano warehouse in Fifth avenue, where she received a bouquet and kissed a small and pretty child.

At the Park Theatre a great throng assembled to see her. It was nearer nine o'clock than eight when the curtain rose on the first act. Miss Morris is the second person who appears in the play. She was received with moderate enthusiasm. Dressed in white muslin, and acting a part that in this act certainly is indifferent, it was evident that many in the house did not recognize her. When the act was closed, Mlle. Bernhardt entered. She passed along the aisle to the left of the house, and entered the box to the right of the stage on the ground tier. Two of her six managers, Messrs. Jarrett and Schwab, accompanied her. The box was draped with the flags of France and America. Breathless silence and the craning of every neck in the house greeted the immediate entrance of the slender and gifted Parisienne. It was only when she had seated herself, with much art and pretty circumstance, that the subdued applause began to break forth. It grew, until the Bernhardt, half rising, inclined her body gracefully. The orchestra played the "Marseillaise." It is a singular fact that this air has always been produced in a lugubrious manner before Mlle. Bernhardt. The performance was especially lugubrious last night. People were incited to make a noise both by the wish to stamp out the music and by the desire to greet Mlle. Bernhardt. The Parisian actress wore a hat, trimmed with white, whose broad brim was drawn down on both sides of her face and fastened under her chin. Her face was to be viewed as if at the extremity of a funnel of daisies. She wore a dress of black silk, with plentiful white lace trimming about the throat and neck.

The greeting of the French actress had subsided when the curtain rose on the second act. Miss Morris, still arrayed in her simple dress of white muslin, was the first character to appear. Instantly such an enthusiasm broke forth as heretofore there had been no intimation of. It was as if the patriotism had got the upper hand. This was probably the explanation of it. Eyes were fixed on the Bernhardt, and hands made thunder for the popular American. Miss Morris stopped at the front of the stage, seemingly amazed. She waited for the applause to subside; it only grew louder. She bowed to the audience. The great enthusiastic noise continued. She turned with a flushed face to the box in which the Bernhardt sat and twice bent in a deep courtesy. Mlle. Bernhardt rose and returned the salute as gracefully as it was given. The applause then reached its height, and Miss Morris, deeply flushed, retired for a moment, evidently to control her feelings. "Let me pour you some coffee," were her first words as she returned to her place. They were almost a humorous echo of the enthusiasm which had stirred her beyond her self-possession.

As the play went on, the acting of Miss Morris was watched with the keenest interest by her celebrated visitor. The long and wrinkled white kid gloves of the Parisian often met in applause of some well-rendered point, and this was invariably a signal for an outbreak on the part of the rest of the audience.

At the close of the play the entire house wedged the lobbies to witness the Bernhardt in her passage out. She disappointed the people by making her exit from the stage door.

THE first duty of true Democracy is to vote for no ringsters, tricksters or jobbers—for no man who uses politics for a living and parties as a protective shield!

PAP.

$11,000 a Year Paid Into the Knapp Family and Annexes.

A New Wrinkle in the City Auditor's Office.

A new principle of Democratic practice has just been announced at the City Hall. It is to the effect that it is nobody's business what salaries clerks in the city's employ receive from the city, and that neither the tax-payers nor the city press have any right to inquire what emoluments gentlemen in municipal employ get for the wear and tear of brains and trousers which they slough off for an ungrateful Republic. This last statement was subsequently whittled down to the admission that there might be a right to inquire but that there was not a coincident right to be answered. General Smith, the City Auditor, was this morning called upon by a POST-DISPATCH reporter, and asked if the amount of salaries given to certain city servants could be told to him.

"Certainly," said the General. "What is it that you want?"

"I would like to know how much Mr. Andrew Knapp, of the Collector's office, Mr. Henry Knapp and Bunny Knapp and Mr. Jones, of the Assessor's office, Mr. Hoblitzelle, of the Board of Public Improvements, Capt. Ford of the Harbor and Wharf Commission, and Mr. Vernon W. Knapp, of the City Counselor's office, each receive?"

Gen. Smith thought over the matter very solemnly for a second or two, and then said, "Mr. Adreon has that information in a better shape than I have, and can give it to you without any trouble; you go in and see him. I would have to hunt over the books and do a large lot of work to get it for you."

The reporter went and found Mr. Adreon perfectly willing to give him any information required. The Knapp list was repeated. At its end Mr. Adreon was sorry to say that he knew nothing about the salaries, and that the City Auditor was the person who could give the information, as he had the original payroll in his possession.

Back to the City Auditor the reporter went, and Gen. Smith again grieved over his inability to furnish the matter wanted without a great expenditure of clerical labor. The scribe had better go in and get the items from the City Treasurer. The reporter's head was beginning to go round at this time, but he followed the trail into the Treasury.

"Mr. Patrick, can you tell me what salaries are paid to Mr. Andy Knapp, Mr. Harry Knapp, Mr. Bunny Knapp, Mr. Jones, Mr. Hoblitzelle, Capt. Ford and Mr. Vernon W. Knapp out of the City Treasury?"

"We are just now too busy to give you the exact amounts, but if you will see Gen. Smith, the City Auditor——"

The reporter went back to see General Smith, the City Auditor. "General," said he, "I have been referred to you by the City Treasurer for the salaries of Andy Knapp, Harry Knapp, Bunny Knapp, Jones, Hoblitzelle, Ford and Vernon W. Knapp?"

"Why don't you go to heads of departments and get them there?"

"Because I am informed that these are matters of record in your office."

"Well, sir, I shall not tell you what they get. You have no right to ask the question, or at least no right to have it answered."

"Then it is not the tax-payers' business what salaries Andy Knapp, etc., get?"

"I don't think it is."

"And you refuse to tell me, as a reporter, what these parties are paid by the city?"

"I do."

Mayor Overstolz was next appealed to, and he stated that his opinion was that Capt. Vernon W. Knapp got $2,500 a year, Mr. Ford, $1,500, Mr. Hoblitzelle $1,200; that Mr. Andrew Knapp received about $1,200 a year, Mr. Henry Knapp about the same, $1,200 a year that is, Mr. Bunny Knapp about $900, Mr. Jones about $1,200. In all $9,700 a year. Another guess at Mr. Andy Knapp's salary, by a gentleman who claims to know, made the sum $2,500, an amount more nearly exact, which would make the total received by the family $11,000. Mr. Andy Knapp is employed in a Republican office, the Collector's, Messrs. Henry Knapp, Bunny Knapp and Jones, in the Assessor's office, are also under Republican control. All of these gentlemen are said to be very efficient clerks and pleasant fellows. Their positions all depend on the Missouri Republican, however, and the question is simply this, if the city is worth $11,000 to the Republican, how much is the Republican worth to the city?"

RIVER NEWS.

THE War Eagle leaves at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Keokuk.

THE regular packet Dora will leave tomorrow for Clarksville.

THE fast and fine City of Alton will leave for New Orleans to-morrow evening.

THE Belle of Lacrosse, Capt. James Best, leaves for St. Paul and way points this afternoon.

THE popular Phil. Chappell, Capt. Archie Bryan, backs out on Wednesday for Missouri River.

THE mountain steamer, C. K. Peck, comes here direct when her present trip is completed.

THE noble steamer Wyoming, Captain N. Bleson, leaves on Wednesday for Louisville. Hunter Ben Jenkins is agent.

THE Mary Morton will leave for St. Paul this afternoon. Capt. John Killeen commands, and Charley Mason is clerk.

CAPT. THOS. HOWARD, late clerk of the Robt. E. Lee, will be placed in charge of a sidewheel steamer some time during the present season.

MR. FISHER, of the John L. Rhoads, came in from his Missouri farm on Saturday and left that evening for Cincinnati. His boat will come out from Pittsburg for St. Louis on the first water.

ED. HENINGER, aged twenty-eight, son of Capt. Louis Heninger, died on Friday last and was buried in the Rock Springs Cemetery. He was a fine young man and was clerk in a house of this city.

THE Arkansas is laid up. She came in on Saturday with considerable freight consigned to the New Orleans Kountz Line, but the Stansard could not take it. Miles Burk commanded the Arkansas, and S. S. Grannell-washer clerk. The boat and two barges were from Nauvoo.

ON Friday the Rosebud arrived at Bismarck with 150 Government employes from the coal banks. The Josephine and Big Horn have left Yankton for Fort Pierre on their last trips of the season.

COTTON can be shipped from points on White River to New Orleans for $1 50 per bale; the rate to Memphis is only twenty-five cents less, and shippers claim that they get 1-8c more for their cotton in New Orleans.

THE Government is improving the chain on the Ohio by building two wing dams from the Illinois shore out into the river and sloping downward. The are built of stone and hewn timber. The stone is furnished from a quarry just below Golconda.

SUPT. J. D. RANDALL and Mate J. C. Collins, of the St. Francis River Packet Company, have a very pretty place on St. Francis River, about fifteen miles above Madison They own a section of 640 acres, with the greater part of it under cultivation.

A SIOUX CITY correspondent says: In several places between this city and Pierre the river has cut into what had been heavy bodies of timber. The channel at these places is right through the midst of this fallen timber, and it is not necessary to say that navigation at these places is highly unsafe.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 30: It rained almost without cessation all day, and as the rains appear to have been general, a good stage of water for getting out coal is confidently expected within the next forty-eight hours. Six feet four inches at Brownsville, and rising at all points up the Monongahela, and a rise is expected out of the Allegheny.

MEMPHIS, 30: Several packets laid over here last night, and the Wyoming, from St. Louis, has lost five days trying to discharge her trip. Deeper water is expected in all Southern side streams. Major John D. Adams is reported seriously ill at his home in Little Rock. Pilot Elisha Evans is suspended for fifty days for allowing the John T. Moore and Coahoma to collide some weeks ago. The other pilot, Sutton, was suspended thirty days.

TO-DAY the new steamer Wheless leaves Pittsburg for Savanna, a voyage of 4,000 miles. The Wheless is 168 feet in length, 26 feet beam, and 5 feet depth of hold. Has three steel boilers 22 feet long, 42 inches in diameter, with 10 flues each. Cylinders, 16 inches in diameter, 7 feet stroke; wheels, 24 feet in diameter, with 9-foot buckets. The main cabin is very handsomely designed and elegantly furnished; the staterooms, twenty-four in number, are large.

YAZOO City Flag: Captain Bob Easley came down out of the Tallahatchie with the United States boat Thomas B. Florence on Monday last, and commenced cutting trees on the bank opposite Greenwood. We learn that he has done very efficient work on the Tallahatchie. Up to the 20th inst. the Florence had cut down 5,830 trees on the river bank, and deadened 1,539 and pulled up 30 thirty snags, one of which in the Yazoo River was forty feet long and thirty inches in diameter.

N. O. DEMOCRAT, Saturday: Capt. Louis Ranson and Mr. W. J. Comeaux, two gentlemen well-known in the coast trade, bought the Big Sunflower yesterday and will in a day or so put her in the coast trade as a tri-weekly packet to Ben Tureaud. The Big Sunflower is just out of dock, where her hull was placed in the best of order. The W. P. Halliday left yesterday morning. Besides a round lot of forwarding freight she had forty-nine hogsheads and fifty barrels sugar, forty-four barrels molasses, 251 barrels rice and 143 hogsheads cocoanuts. After leaving the landing she took 250 sacks salt ..... The John D. Scully as light and as good a low-water boat as has entered Red River in many a day, recently improved and put in the very best of order, leaves to-day at 5 p. m. for Alexandria and Grand Ecore.

Speed of Hudson River Steamboats.

POUGHKEEPSIE Eagle, 23: The new boat Albany made a fast trip from New York here yesterday. The Newburgh Journal says she passed that city at 1:30 p. m., her wheels making twenty-seven revolutions per minute. She made her lebgth in nine seconds, and the six-mile stretch in seventeen minutes, which, the Journal says, was at the rate of twenty-one miles an hour, and which is fast, but not extraordinary time. We telegraphed to Albany for a special dispatch in regard to her trip, and received the following at 9 p. m.: "Albany, October 22.—The Albany hurried only to Poughkeepsie, and made the distance from New York to that place in 3 hours and 9 minutes, without landing. She left New York at 11:01 a. m., and stopped at Rhinelock, where her coal gave out. After that she jogged on to Albany, reaching here at 6:15 p. m. Capt. Hitchcock thinks the Albany can run between this city and New York in six hours."

WE find the following in the New York Clipper Almanac: "The South America made 26 miles in one hour. It has been claimed for the Mary Powell that, on August 7, 1874, she ran from her dock, New York, up to Piermont, 28 miles, in one hour, but steamboatmen do not credit the time, and especially question the distance." The Alton ran from New York to Albany in 6 hours 21 minutes. The Mary Powell has come from New York here in 3 hours 45 minutes, and made six landings. Allowing at the lowest 40 minutes for the landings, the Mary Powell's running time was 4 hours 5 minutes, or five minutes quicker than the time of the Albany yesterday, which is equal to two miles.

POOR PONTO.

The Story of a Dog Who Died of a Broken Heart.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

Dr. Martin, a gentleman living on Decatur street, tells the Constitution a remarkable story about a bull dog who actually died of a broken heart.

"You remember," said the pleasant doctor, "that about two months ago my father-in-law, Mr. W. H. Harvill, who had reached a green old age, died. Well, you may or may not know that my father-in-law owned at the time of his death a very fine bull dog—a huge, fat, sleek fellow who went by the name of Ponto. For months and months before his death the dog was the constant companion of my father-in-law. There was something almost human in the devotion of the dog to his master, and, as a natural consequence, the master was particularly fond of his dog. The daily movements of the old gentleman, for a long time before his last sickness, were as regular as those of a clock, and Ponto followed him as surely as his very shadow. They were simply inseparable. When my father-in-law, as was his custom, took his morning walk up Decatur street, Ponto was always by his side; when, toward noon, he walked out the same street to his plantation a mile and a half in the country, Ponto was his companion; when he returned and took his accustomed seat here in front of my store to rest, Ponto curled up before his chair, and patiently waited until dinner time, when he would follow the old gentleman to the house up there and after the meal was over would watch by the side of the sofa in the hall, where my father always took his afternoon nap. When the old man died Ponto took his place by the coffin and did not budge until it was taken from the room. Then he got up and followed it closely to the hearse, and slowly followed the hearse to the grave. Ponto came back to the house a changed dog. Every night he lay upon his rug in the porch and moaned most piteously all night long.

"I have never heard any expression of human sorrow that was half so plaintive and touching as the moaning of that dog, as night after night he writhed upon that rug. It was enough to melt the hardest heart. Every day found him making the rounds just as he used to do before the old man died. He would walk slowly up the street, and after a while pass down the other side, on his way out to the plantation. He would come back to the store, and after lying under that chair a few moments would get up, look into my face in the most pleading manner, and then pass into the back yard as if in search of something. Then he would go up to the house, and after taking his place by the sofa in the hall, suddenly spring up and walk through my father-in-law's bed-room. He was looking for his dead master. The family let him have his own way, and I did all in my power to console him, but all in vain. I tempted him with the choicest meat, but he refused to eat. I offered him the warmest milk; he would not drink. He went around with his head down, the very picture of sorrow. He dwindled away almost to a skeleton, staggering around daily to the places visited by his master in life and at night giving vent to his distressful moaning. But this could not last forever, so one day about five weeks after the old man died, Ponto came dragging his lank and weak body down the street—that same street which he had traversed so many bright mornings with his master! When he got by the fence he stopped and sank upon the ground. I ran to him and lifting him tenderly in my arms carried him into the yard. I laid him gently on the ground—I wish now I had taken him in the house and placed him in the old man's room, for (and the kind doctor turned his head—there was a tremor in his tone) for he was dead!"

A Campaign Incident.

From the Detroit Free Press.

The other evening a citizen of Detroit beckened to his twelve-year-old son to follow him to the wood-shed, and when they had arrived there he began: "Now, young man, you have been fighting again. How many times have I told you that it is disgraceful to fight?" "Oh, father, this wasn't about marbles or anything of the kind," replied the boy. "I can't help it. As a Christian man it is my duty to bring up my children to fear the Lord. Take off your coat!" "But, father, the boy I was fighting with called me names." "Can't help it. Calling names don't hurt any one. Off with that coat!" "He said I was the son of a wire-puller." "What! What's that?" "And he said you was an office-hunter." "What! What loafer dared make that assertion?" "It made me awful mad, but I didn't say anything. Then he called you a hireling." "Called me a hireling. Why I'd like to get my hands on him!" puffed the old gent. "Yes, and he said you was a political lickspittle!" "Lord o' gracious! but wouldn't I like to have the training of that boy for about five minutes!" wheezed the old man as he hopped around "I put up with that," continued the boy, "and then he said you laid your pipes for office and got left by a large majority. I couldn't stand that, father, and so I sailed over the fence and licked him bald headed in less'n two minutes! Thrash me if you must, father, but I couldn't stand it to hear you abused by the malignant opposition!" "My son," said the father, as he felt for a half dollar with one hand and wiped his eyes with the other, "you may go out and buy yourself two pounds of candy. The Bible says it's wrong to fight, but the Bible must make allowance for political campaigns and the vile slanders of the other party. I only brought you out here to talk to you, and now you can put on your coat and run along."

INSTEAD of going to an asylum for imbeciles or inebriates, Jimmy Stanton wants to go to the Legislature. His election would not only be an injury and disgrace to the city, but make her ridiculous before the whole State. PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF MISSOURI, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

WHEREAS, It is apprehended attempts will be made to perpetrate frauds at the ensuing election in this State,

Now, therefore, to secure a free, full and impartial vote to all those who are entitled to vote, and to exclude fraudulent and illegal voters, and to preserve the purity of the elections, I do hereby direct the sheriff of every county in this State, and their deputies, the marshals of all towns, cities and counties, and their deputies, the police force of every town and city, within their respective jurisdiction, and all other executive officers of the State, to see that the laws regulating and pertaining to elections be strictly enforced and faithfully executed. And that all of said officers, as well as the officers charged with the duty of conducting elections, shall use their utmost endeavors to secure a fair and legal election, and aid in the discovery, detection and arrest of those persons who may illegally vote in said election, or commit any other violation of the law relating to elections. It must be specially borne in mind "each voter shall vote ONLY in the township in which he resides, or if in a town or city, then in the election district therein in which he resides."

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Missouri.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF MISSOURI, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

WHEREAS, I have reliable information that persons who do not possess the requisite qualifications of voters have been registered as qualified voters in the city of St. Louis, and that such persons will endeavor to vote at the ensuing election;

Now, therefore, to secure a free, full and impartial vote to all those who are entitled to vote, and to exclude fraudulent and illegal voters, I do hereby direct the Sheriff, his deputies, the Metropolitan police force of said city, and all other executive officers of the State in said city, to see the laws concerning registration and election be strictly enforced and faithfully executed. And that said officers shall specially aid the Board of Revision in correcting and making perfect the registration lists of said city. And that said officers, as well as the officers charged with the duty of conducting the ensuing election, shall use their utmost endeavors to secure a fair and legal election and aid in the discovery, detection and arrest of those persons who have illegally registered themselves as voters or who may illegally vote in said election. Let the purity of the ballot be preserved by the punishment of the guilty.

[SEAL.] In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Missouri. Done at the City of Jefferson this 21st day of October, A. D. 1880.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Whereas, by deed of trust dated July 31, 1876, of record in the office of the Recorder of Deeds within and for the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, in book 556, at page 141, William B. Field and Hattie B. Field, his wife, and Isaac N. Field and Mary D. Field, his wife, conveyed to the undersigned trustee the following described real estate, situate in the county of St. Louis and State of Missouri, to-wit: The east half of the southwest quarter of section number one, in township number forty-five (45) north, range number five (5) east of the fifth principal meridian, containing eighty-five acres and fourteen hundredths of an acre (85 14-100), being the same tract heretofore granted by the United States to Nicholas Tomlinson, by patent dated April 1, 1829; by said Tomlinson and wife conveyed to Ira Barbee by deed recorded in Recorder's office of St. Louis county in book S, page 362; allotted to Andrew B. Barbee by commissioners in partition as appears by there report recorded in book Y No. 5, page 336, of said Recorder's office; afterwards conveyed to John F. Lay and Abram F. Pope by deed recorded in book D No. 6, page 294, and by said Pope and wife deeded to said Lay as recorded in book P No. 6, page 98; afterwards conveyed to Richard R. Field and Charles Beardsice as recorded in book No. 6, page 194, afterwards conveyed to the firm of Field, Beardslee & Co. as recorded in book No. 183, page 415; afterwards deeded to said William B. Field and Isaac N. Field, parties hereto. Also the following described lots or parcels of ground then lying and being in the county of St. Louis and State of Missouri, but now embraced in the limits of said city of St. Louis, to-wit: Lots numbered three (3) and four (4) in block numbered two (2) of Aubert Place, a subdivision in said county, a plat whereof is recorded in the Recorder's office of St. Louis county; bounded north by lots numbered seven and forty-two, east by lot number two, south by the Olive street plank-road, upon which they have an aggregate front of one hundred and twenty feet, and west by lot number five, having a depth each of one hundred and eighty feet, conveyed by warrantee deed to William B. Field and recorded July 7, 1857, in the Recorder's office of St. Louis county, Missouri, in book 192, page 310. Also lot twenty-seven (27) of D. W. Graham's Sulphur Spring tract, then lying in the county of St. Louis, State of Missouri, but now embraced in the limits of said city of St. Louis, containing ten acres and bounded north by lots nineteen (19) and twenty (20) of said tract, east by lot twenty-eight (28) and west by lot twenty-six (26) of said tract, being in United States survey 2037, in St. Louis county, Missouri. Which conveyance was made to secure the payment of certain promissory notes therein described; and whereas default has been made in the payment of certain of said notes, now past due; now therefore, by the provisions of said deed of trust and the power therein given me, and at the request of the legal holder of said past due and unpaid notes, I will on MONDAY, THE 15TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1880, sell said real estate at public vendue at the east front door of the Court-house, in the said city of St. Louis, to the highest bidder, for cash, between the hours of 10 o'clock in the forenoon and 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, to satisfy the conditions of said deed of trust.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Whereas, by their deed of trust, dated the tenth day of July, 1874, and recorded in book 503, on page 315, in the Recorder's office of the city of St. Louis, Patrick J. Woodlock and Mary R. Woodlock, his wife, did convey to the undersigned trustee the following described property, to-wit: Thirty-one (31) shares of the capital stock of the Western Building and Loan Association, said shares being numbered 17 to 48 inclusive; also the following described real estate, viz: Part of lots numbered nine (9) and ten (10) in block number six (6) of Thomas F. Smith's addition to the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, said lots being the same acquired by said Patrick J. Woodlock by two deeds executed to him respectively by John S. Cavender and wife and by J. H. Simpson, the former being recorded in book 397, page 17, and the latter in book 332 page, 287, in the Recorder's office in the city of St. Louis, the said lots having an aggregate front of fifty-nine feet and six inches (59 ft. 6 in.) on the south side of Lucy street by a depth southwardly of one hundred and ten feet (110), and being bounded north by Lucy street, south by lot 11, east by an alley fifteen feet wide and west by Summit avenue, the part of said lots hereby conveyed being a front of fifty-one feet on Lucy (now Adams) street by a depth of seventy-two feet to a proposed alley four feet wide, the said fifty-one feet being all of the width of lot nine (9) and sixteen feet (16) six inches (6) off the western side of lot ten:

Which conveyance was in trust to secure the payment of a certain bond in said deed described: and whereas said Patrick J. Woodlock has broken the conditions of said bond in that he has failed to make payments of rent and assessments or contributions on the shares as therein required, and such payments are now overdue more than three months, by reason whereof the whole principal of said bond has become due and payable; now, therefore, at the request of the obligee in said bond, notice is hereby given that the undersigned, trustee in said deed, will on MONDAY, NOVEMBER 15TH, 1880, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m. of that day, at the east front door of the Court-house in the city of St. Louis, Missouri, for cash, and at public vendue, to the highest bidder, sell said shares of stock and said real estate to satisfy said bond and trust.

TRUSTEE'S SALE of Real Estate. Whereas, Amos H. Shultz and James E. Shorb, trustees for Angeline Maguire, wife of John Maguire, said trustees acting at the written request and direction of said Angeline Maguire, and the said Angeline Maguire, for herself, by their certain Deed of Trust, dated the 4th day of September, A. D. 1877, and recorded in the Recorder's office for the city of St. Louis, in book 575 at page 491, conveyed to the undersigned trustee all that parcel of land in block No. 1930 of the city of St. Louis, Missouri, known and described as follows: Beginning at the southwest corner of Bremen avenue and North Ninth street, thence running southwardly along the west line of Ninth street 200 feet, thence westwardly 300 feet, more or less, to the east line of Bellefontaine road, alias North Tenth street, thence along the east line of Bellefontaine road, or Tenth street northwardly 200 feet to the south line of Bremen avenue, thence eastwardly along Bremen avenue 300 feet, more or less, to the place of beginning, and being bounded north by Bremen avenue, east by North Ninth street, west by Bellefontaine road or Tenth street, and south by a line parallel with and 200 feet south of the south line of Bremen avenue; which said conveyance was made in trust to secure the payment of certain promissory notes in said deed described; and, whereas, the principal note and last interest note are past due and remain unpaid. Now, therefore, I, the undersigned, trustee, at the request of the legal holder of said notes and by virtue of the provisions of said deed, will, on SATURDAY, THE 13TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, A. D. 1880, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the east front door of the Court-House, in the city of St. Louis, proceed to sell the above described property at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, to satisfy said notes with the interest thereon and the cost of executing this trust.

AUCTION SALE of the magnificent residence and other real estate of the estate of G. P. Beauvais, deceased.—Special Commissioner's sale of real estate in partition.—Notice is hereby given that the Circuit Court of the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, on the 9th day of June, 1880, in a certain cause numbered 52,786, room 1, and pending in said court, wherein Frederick J. Beauvais is plaintiff and Adrienne Beauvais, Edward C. Beauvais, Placide M. Beauvais, Reno A. Beauvais and Peter A. Beauvais are defendants, rendered judgment that partition amongst said parties be made of the following real estate, owned by them in fee simple as heirs of G. P. Beauvais, deceased, situated in the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, to-wit:

1. Lots 15, 16, 17 and 18 of city block 1370, fronting on Tennessee avenue.

3. A lot of ground with improvements thereon situated on north side of Almond street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, bounded east by an alley, south by north line of Almond street, west by First African Church of God and north by land now or formerly of public schools, and fronting 62 feet on north line of Almond street by a depth northwardly of 109 feet.

4. Lots 22, 23, 24, 25, 26 and 27, fronting on Lux street, and lots 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11, fronting on Second Carondelet avenue, all in city block 1537. The magnificent residence of the late G. P. Beauvais, No. 3317 Second Carondelet avenue, is situated on these lots.

And said Court, finding that said real estate was not susceptible of division in kind amongst said parties without great prejudice to them as owners, then and there ordered and adjudged that the same be sold according to law, and appointed the undersigned as special commissioner for that purpose.

Now, therefore, the undersigned, having first duly qualified as such special commissioner in pursuance of said order of sale and by authority of law, will expose said real estate and premises for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the Court-house, in said city of St. Louis, on THURSDAY, THE 18TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1880, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day.

Terms of Sale.—One-half cash and balance in one year with six per cent interest, the different payments to be secured by deed of trust on the property sold.

HENRY ZIEGENHEIN.
Special Commissioner

The title is perfect and clear of incumbrance. Abstracts of title furnished. For further information apply to Henry Ziegenhein, the special commissioner, at Lafayette Bank, corner of Park and Carondelet avenues, between 10 a. m. and 12 m., or to Fred. J. Beauvais, 420 North Third street.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—By virtue and authority of a special execution issued from the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court at the City of St. Louis, returnable to the December term, 1880, of said court, and to me directed, wherein the State of Missouri, at the relation and to the use of Myer A. Rosenblatt, Collector of the City of St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, is plaintiff, and the Maguire Market Company, a corporation, and the city of St. Louis, a municipal corporation, are defendants, I have levied upon and seized the following described real estate, situated in the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, and charged with the lien of tax bill on which this action is founded, and described in said execution as follows, to-wit:

A lot in city block number 1931 on Broadway, being 75 feet in front or width and 304 feet in depth, being bounded on the north and south by the real estate of defendants, on the east by Broadway, and on the west by Ninth street.

And I will, on SATURDAY, THE 13TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1880, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the east front door of the Court-house, in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, sell at public auction, for cash, to the highest bidder, the above described property, or so much thereof as will satisfy said execution and costs.

JOHN FINN, Sheriff City St. Louis.
St. Louis, Mo., October 16, 1880. 59G

SHERIFF'S SALE.—By virtue and authority of an execution issued from the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court at the City of St. Louis, returnable to the December term, 1880, of said court, and to me directed, in favor of James Carroll and against John G. Richmond, Samuel Ruoff and Mary Wustbrock, I have levied upon and seized all the right, title and interest of Samuel J. Ruoff in and to the following described real estate, situate in the city of St. Louis, and State of Missuri, to-wit:

The north half of lot No. 13 (thirteen) of the subdivision of Goodfellow Place, a plat of which subdivision is of record in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of the city of St. Louis in plat book 8, at page 107, said lot having a front west of 100 feet on Florence avenue by a depth east of 180 feet, and bounded on the north by lot No. 14 of said Goodfellow Place, on the east by lot No. 24, south by half of lot No. 13, and on the west by Florence avenue.

And I will, on MONDAY, THE 15TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1880, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the east front door of the Court-house in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, sell at public auction, for cash, to the highest bidder, all the right, title, interest, claim, estate and property, of the above named Samuel J. Ruoff of, in and to the above described property, or so much thereof to satisfy said execution and costs.

JOHN FINN, Sheriff City St. Louis.
St. Louis, Mo., October 18, 1880. 7H

SHERIFF'S SALE.—By virtue and authority of a special execution issued from the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court at the City of St. Louis, returnable to the December term, 1880, of said court, and to me directed, in favor of Frederic Trampe and against Caroline Schlichte and Henry Schlichte, I have levied upon and seized all the right, title and interest of said Caroline Schlichte and Henry Schlichte in and to the following described leasehold estate and property in the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, and described in said execution as follows, to-wit:

A lot of ground in block number (567) Five hundred and sixty-seven in the city of St. Louis and the State of Missouri, fronting twenty-five feet on Sixteenth street, by one hundred and twenty-six feet deep more or less and bounded northwardly by William Duggan, lessee; eastwardly by Sixteenth street; southwardly by William Roemer, lessee, and westwardly by an alley.

And I will, on MONDAY, THE 15TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1880, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the east front door of the Court-house, in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, sell at public auction, for cash, to the highest bidder, all the right, title, interest, claim estate and property of the above named defendants of, in and to the above described property, to satisfy said execution and costs.

JOHN FINN, Sheriff City of St. Louis.
St. Louis, Mo., October 19, 1880.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

In the State of Missouri, City of St. Louis, ss. Circuit Court City of St. Louis, October Term, 1880.
Monday, October 4, 1880.
Edith Frisbie
vs.
William Frisbie.

It appearing from the petition and affidavit herein that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Missouri, so that the ordinary process of law can not be served upon him, on motion of plaintiff, by attorney, it is ordered that said defendant be notified that a civil action has been commenced against him, the object and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant, on the ground that defendant, disregarding his duties as the husband of the plaintiff, has absented himself without reasonable cause for the space of more than one year and has failed to supprt her.

And unless he appear at the term of this court to be begun and held at the city of St. Louis, within and for the city of St. Louis, on the first Monday of December next, and, on or before the third day thereof, answer the plaintiff's petition, the same will be taken against him as confessed.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in the St. Louis POST-DISPATCH, a newspaper printed and published in the city of St. Louis.

A true copy from the record.

Witness my hand and seal of the Circuit Court City of St. Louis, this 9th day of October, 1880.

State of Missouri, City of St. Louis, ss.
In the Circuit Court City of St. Louis, October Term, 1880.
Monday, October 4, 1880.
Selma La Rango
vs.
Cornelius La Rango.

It appearing from the petition and affidavit heretofore filed herein that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Missouri, wherefore, on motion of plaintiff, by attorney, it is ordered that said defendant be notified that a civil action has been commenced against him, the object and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between the plaintiff and defendant, on the grounds that defendant has offered plaintiff such indignities as to render her condition intolerable, that said defendant has without just cause left and abandoned plaintiff, and has remained away from plaintiff since on or about the 10th day of April, 1880.

And unless he appear at the term of this court to be begun and held at the city of St. Louis, within and for the city of St. Louis, on the first Monday of December next, and, on or before the third day thereof, answer the plaintiff's petition, the same will be taken against him as confessed.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Jasper Joeis was lodged in jail last night by Officers Dumpby and O'Brien. Later he was released on bail.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad have also received orders through their Agent, C. R Dubois, to keep the streets in the vicinity of their tracks clear of obstructions.

Eliza Williams Rielly was arrested by Officers Healy and O'Neil for disturbing the peace. The case appeared before 'Squire Bunyan this morning and Rielly was charged $3 and cost.

Mayor Joyce sent notice to Chief Renshaw this morning to have the police officers notify all the saloon-keepers that no intoxicating liquors is to be sold to-morrow under penalty of a heavy fine.

Mayor Joyce has issued a proclamation that athis election not only the front doors, but also the side and back doors of the saloons be closed. Any violation of the proclamation will be proeecuted to the full extent of the law.

Officers O'Brien and Dumphy arrested Lissey Swaltze and Thomas Stanley on a warrant charging them with adultery. Swartze and Stanley are wandering Gypseys, just arrived here. The charge was preferred by a cousin of the woman.

James Harney, city editor of the East St. Louis Herald, met with a painful accident yesterday. While stepping out of his wagon he missed his footing and fell to the pavement, dislocating his shoulder and inflicting other painful bruises.

Mayor Joyce notified E. B. McClure that the complaints by citizens, teamsters and foot passengers are becoming more frequent concerning the obstruction by the trains of tee Indianapolis and St. Louis Railroad, and that if the streets were not kept clear of obstructions of this kind the ordinaces with regard to the obstruction of the streets by trains would be rigorous by enforcer.

The City Council have decided to grade that portion of Fourth street, lying north of and running from Dyke avenue to Christy avenue, in order to give the citizens access to the Douglas school-house, and to have more and better communication between the two avenues. Mayor Joyce accordingly sent notice to John L. Williams, general counsel for the Vandalia line, to have their ice house, situated in the street removed immediately.

Thomas Larkin imbibed too much beer yesterday, and while under the influence met a young man named John Calahan, who represented himself as a police officer. After asking Larkin his name and how much money he had, he said he was Officer Kane and would take charge of the $12 in cash which Larkin had in his pocket. Larkin handed over his money to the supposed officer. After promising to meet Calahan at Gippert's saloon on the corner of Collinsville and Missouri avenues, Larkin arrived at the saloon at the stated hour, but Callahan failed to put in an appearance. He appeared before Chief Renshaw this morning inquiring for Officer Ray when he found out that he had been duped. The police are now on the lookout for Calahan.

"You are charged with disturbing the peace, by using vile, offensive, profane language, obstreperous conduct, by fighting, striking and assaulting," said Clerk Thomas, of the First District Police Court, to John Kelly, as he walked up to the bar. His wife and Officer Phillips were the prosecuting witnesses. Mrs. Kelly took the stand. Her face was scratched and cut and her eyes completely closed. In a few words she stated how Kelly had brutally assaulted her and beaten her with his shoes and a club. John took the stand and made a herculean effort to show what an abused man he was. "All I want is work, Judge, your Honor," said Kelly. "I will work at anything in the United States." "I'll give you an opportunity to work," said Judge Jecko. I fine you $50 and you can work six months in the city geological gardens to get even with the city."

Mollie Lambert is a saddle-colored young negro woman, whose figure and face were without doubt very pretty. She had an engaging manner, was dressed in a cashmere trimmed in black beads, and to all appearances was a perfect lady. Ada Smith, another young negro woman, took the stand and swore that Mollie mopped the floor and steps with her. Officer Dillon testified that when he found Ada he didn't think there was a whole bone in her body. She was lying in bed and unable to go to the station to prefer a charge. Under the generalship of John Martin Mollie told a very plausible story of the difficulty, but it was not enough to overthrow the testimony of Ada and the officer, and Mollie was assessed $10 and warned that it was not the proper caper to go about town mopping up floors with inoffensive people.

By the ADDITION of their recent IMPORTATIONS, Mermod, Jaccard & Co., Fourth and Locust, now offer you a stock of $140,000 worth of diamonds from which to make your SELECTIONS.

AMUSEMENTS.

Grand Opera-House.

"A brilliant and decided success," was the unanimous verdict of the densely packed audience of the Grand Opera-house as they filed down the staircase and out into the street last night at eleven o'clock. For three hours they had been enjoying the merry mirth, music and melody of the "Sparks," and when the curtain dropped they were loth to leave the scene of innocent, frolicsome fun, which had caused their sides to ache with joyous laughter, and which, at the same time, combined with artistic comedy and unsurpassed vocal renditions, afforded food for the souls of those æsthetically inclined. Willie Edouin's company of "Sparks" in their quaint and queer musical conceit, entitled, "Dreams; or, Fun in a Photograph Gallery," made their bow to the St. Louis puolic, and the public was so pleased therewith that it would fain have had them go on bowing all through the night. We say emphatically that of all the companies and pieces of its kind the "Sparks" are undoubtedly the best, and from Willie Edouin and Alice Atherton to James T. Powers and Annette du Mare must be labeled each and all A 1. "Dreams" is an oddity in two acts. The first one pertains strictly to comedy, while the second is an olla podrida of mirth, music and song. The family gathering of the first part is excellently portrayed, Willie Edouin giving a most humorous and genuine artistic rendition of Grandpapa Binks. The arrival of son and grandson with their wives was most natural. The supper scene, the speech making, etc., went with a vim and snap that kept the audience in a constant state of good humor, and was also a fine specimen of true comedy acting. In the second part Thalia abdicated her throne and a scene of mirthful revels, etc., ensued. There was no broad, vulgar nonsense, such as unfortunately is often met with and is too frequently the resort of weak actors, but the plane of pure burlesque and eccentric comedy was maintained throughout, and thus the absurdities became doubly absurd. Alice Atherton was greeted with thunderous applause. In the second act she was encored five times and the audience still seemed unappeased, but the actress was forced to desist from sheer exhaustion. Her dancing, singing and specialties met with hearty approbation. Willie Edouin was simply irresistible. As the retired farmer, aged seventy, in the first act he displayed rare ability as a genuine comedian. In the second act he was immensely funny. A glimpse of him set the spectators off roaring with laughter. Jacques Kruger, as the impecunious photographer, was scarce inferior to Edouin. His make-up, acting and "business" provoked outburst after outburst of laughter. Kruger is an artist. James T. Power, as the office boy and Chip-Cheeky, possesses a remarkble conception of the humorous. His latter character was unique and higaly comic. Leslie Edmunds and George Le Claire were satisfactory in their respective roles. Miss Lotta Belton, the lady with the phenomenal tenor voice, sang with rare artistic culture and her vocal selections were rapturously encored. Miss Ida Shapleigh, who is a brilliant vocalist, was most enthusiastically applauded for her delightful singing. Miss Julia Edouin and Annetta du Mare were excellent and could not be improved on. Altogether "The Sparks" are a coterie of artists whom it would be hard to surpass. The vocal selections, the serenade and quartettes deserve special praise and mention. The ladies are trained and accomplished artists, and their songs belong to a higher order than is usually found in pieces of this kind. The revolving scene in the last act and the self-laying carpet are also notable features in "Dreams." We predict for "Dreams" unbounded success.

Theatre Comique.

J. W. Ransone opened at the Theatre Comique yesterday and gave two performances of "Across the Atlantic" to well-packed houses. This is the first dramatic combination that has been run this season at the Theatre Comique, and it promises to be very successful. Mr. Ransone is a fine character actor, and as Blue, the colored boy, Jacob, the guide, Miles O'Flynn and Louise he gives neat representations, while his songs are repeatedly encored. Mr. Charles Krone, an actor well known in St. Louis, presented the part of Antoine Renaud in very good style. Will McCoy, George W. Reed, Joe Burgess, Tom Murray, Fred McAvoy are all good. Miss Annie Burgess as Kate is a very neat bit of acting. Miss Rose Lisle and Miss Annie McAvoy as Mrs. Livingstone and Emma Livingstone were very pleasing. The drama is preceded by a variety performance including Manchester and Jennings, Miss Fannie V. Reynolds, Miss Ida Farren, and Tom and Henrietta Murray.

THE PASSENGER WAR.

The new feature of to-day in the Chicago passenger rate war is the general substitution of drawback $5 tickets for the straight $5 tickets which were sold on Saturday. No further change is expected until after the Thursday meeting in Chicago of managers. Some of the St. Louis General passenger agents who are members of subcommittees will go up to Chicago to-morrow night to attend a private meeting there on Wednesday, but the rest will not go until Wednesday night. With the $5 rate prevailing to both Kansas City and Chicago the scalpers are having slow sales and small profits. Tickets which they bought at $4 70 some are offering at $5, and some at $4 75. The latter gives the handsome margin of five cents for a month's investment on each ticket. The private speculators who invested heavy in these unlimited tickets are somewhat alarmed at the present aspect of affairs, and well they may be, for unless the Wabash consents, which it certainly will not, to redeem all its tickets, a $5 00 regular rate is sure to obtain for several years to come. This will make as cheap riding as even the most enthusiastic Granger could ask. The distances to Kansas City by the various lines are as follows: Missouri Pacific, 286 miles; Wabash, 277 miles; Chicago and Alton, 277 miles, making the rate per mile by even the shortest line one and three-fourths cents per mile. By the State law the maximum rate that can be charged in Missouri is three cents per mile. The distances to Chicago now are: Chicago and Alton, 282 miles; Wabash, 286 miles; Vandalia, 297 miles; making the rate per mile also about one and three-fourths cent.

Funeral of James M. McGuffin.

The last sad rites were paid to the late James M. McGuffin yesterday afternoon by a large gathering of friends. The funeral was well attended by members of secret organizations and lay friends of the deceased. The services took place at the house of his son, John M. McGuffin, No. 1119 North Nineteenth street, under the direction of Beacon Lodge No. 3 of Masons, assisted by delegations from the Order of Odd Fellows, of which deceased was also a member. A large number of sympathetic friends, including journalists, were present, and the solemn rites for the dead seemed more than ordinarily impressive. Mr. McGuffin was an old citizen of St. Louis, and, though he had retired from active participation in the busy scenes of life, he carried to his retirement the respect and esteem of every one with whom he had ever associated. He had been a lifelong member of the Masonic order and the Odd Fellows. Among the officers of Mr. McGuffin's lodge present were Dr. J. M. Scott, W. M.; Charles Reburgh, S. W.; Archie Carr, J. W.; J. M. Davis, bearer of grand light; Jos. W. Branch, treasurer; and J. H. Bodine, marshal. The pall-bearers were D. N. Burgoyne, Henry Murray, Joseph Cooke and J. H. Brooke, of the Masonic order, and A. Woodworth, W. Schroeder, Charles Jones and J. Harelly, of the Odd Fellows.

At the house the services for the dead were read by Rev. R. M. Bounds, who made a short sermon, dwelling upon the estimable character of the deceased, and the exemplary life he had led. When the funeral reached Bellefontaine Cemetery, the Odd Fellows' service was read by James Ellicock and Ira Stanberry, Dr. Scott following with the Masonic service and D. N. Burgoyne closing with prayer.

For loitering on the street corners Joseph Kust was fined costs. Cases against Martin Robinson, J. P. Hoismark, Thomas Stewart, Geo. Eyerman and P. Singer were dismissed.

"A CROWN will not cure the headache, nor a golden slipper the gout." Very true; but a crowned head when it aches doesn't have to keep right on devising ways and means to procure bread and butter, nor does a gold-shod foot when it twinges have to support the weight of a toiling body. And yet both the crowned heads and the steady workers; the gold-shod feet and the weary toilers enjoy the same inestimable blessing of curing bodily pains and aches, beginning with rheumatism, by using St. Jacobs Oil, which costs but fifty cents a bottle. Ex-Gov. Salomon, now of San Francisco, was cured of severe rheumatic pains by the use of St. Jacobs Oil.

COLORADO'S VOTE.

What a Denver Journalist Thinks of the Campaign in the Silver State.

Mr. Herman Brukk, editor of the Colorado Post, reached St. Louis this morning from Denver. From his position as editor and his personal acquaintance with all the prominent men of Colorado, Mr. Brukk is well qualified to speak on politics. His opinions seem to show that Colorado is by no means certain to go Republican, and there is a strong probability even that it will swell up the Democratic majorities."

"What chance have the Democrats of Colorado?" was asked.

"We have a very good chance, but there are several unfortunate circumstances, which will operate to our disadvantage, and if it were not for them we could easily carry the State. I refer chiefly to the lack of money. The Democratic party in Colorado is poor, while the manipulators of the other side are all wealthy. Hunt, the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and ex-Governor, is the owner of the Morning Star and Evening Star Mines, and is furnishing considerable money.

"George B. Robinson, the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is also wealthy and has signified his willingness to contribute any amount from $2,000 to $25,000 to the campaign fund.

"The chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, Mr. Melbourne, has involved himself personally, and all our campaign speakers have made their canvass at their own expense. I made several speeches and defrayed all my expenses, as I knew the committee did not have the funds to furnish me."

"Is there any particular district where the Democrats are in the majority?"

"In Arrapahoe county, in which Denver is, we have a large majority. The registration in the county at the last election, in 1878, was 7,000, and the present registration is 17,000, an increase in two years of 10,000 voters, the greater number of whom are Democrats. In Lake county, where Leadville is situated, we have from 800 to 1,000 Democratic voters. We have as large majorities in a number of other counties, but the men do not take the trouble to register and vote. In Jefferson county they are required to go eight miles to register and sixteen to vote. I speak of those in the San Juan country, at Crosson Camp. In that camp there are 102 Democrats and sixteen Republicans."

"The population of Colorado is Democratic then?"

"Yes. Nearly all the miners are Democrats, and we could carry the State if they would be induced to register and vote. The Republicans have the money and, of course, marshal their entire force, while we depend upon patriotism."

"Was any application made to the National Committee for assistance?"

"I believe Chairman Melbourne sent in an application, but received no favorable reply. Colorado really belongs to us, and we lose it and its three electoral votes simply because we have not the funds to handle it."

"Are the Republicans confident of carrying the State?"

"By no means. Just before I left home I had a conversation with James B. Belford, our member in Congress, who is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket. He told me that he would not bet a cent either way. I have very strong hopes of the State, and if the men can be induced to vote, the Republicans will find they have made a mistake in claiming Colorado."

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING.

WABASH, ST. LOUIS & PACIFIC RAILWAY CO., ST. LOUIS, MO., September 17, 1880.

A SPECIAL meeting of the stockholders of this company will be held at the office of the company at St. Louis, Mo., on Saturday, November 20, 1880, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., to act upon the following agreements made by the Board of Directors of said company.

An agreement to issue the bonds of this company to the amount of sixteen hundred thousand dollars, dated December 1, A. D. 1880, payable thirty years after date with interest at 6 per cent, payable semi-annually, and secured by mortgage upon the railroad formerly belonging to the Champaign, Havana and Western Railway Company, as required by the terms of consolidation with said company.

An agreement with the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway Company, whereby this company accepts a lease in perpetuity of the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway, and covenants to issue in payment therefor the six per cent bonds of this Company heretofore authorized and secured by its present General Mortgage, or other bonds of this Company of like tenor and effect, secured by mortgage on the said Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway, to an amount not exceeding two millions, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and also to issue, partly in further payment for said lease and partly in exchange for the stock of said Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway Company, the common and preferred stock of this Company to the extent of not exceeding seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars each, being an increase of the Capital Stock of this Company to that extent.

An agreement with the Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska Railroad Company, providing for the construction of the railway of said company from the present terminus of the railway of the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway Company, at Centreville, Iowa, westward to the Missouri River, the lease thereof to this company in perpetuity of said railway; and the payment therefore by this company in 6 per cent bonds of this company, now issued and secured by its general mortgage, or in other bonds of like tenor and effect, secured by mortgage on the railroad of said Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska Railroad Company.

The said agreement provides also for the exchange of the capital stock of the Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska Railroad Company for the capital stock of this company, upon terms therein defined, being an increase of the preferred and common stock of this company to an amount not exceeding seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars each.

An agreement with the Attica, Covington and Southern Railway Company of Indiana, for the construction of the railway of that company for the lease of the same in perpetuity to this company.

An agreement for the construction of an extension of the railway formerly owned by the Champaign, Havana and Western Railway Company from Havana, Illinois, to Quincy, Illinois, and payment for the same by the issue of bonds of this company secured by its general mortgage, to an amount not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars per mile of such constructed road.

An agreement between this company and the Great Western Railway Company of Canada, for carrying the traffic of this company over the railway of that company during a term of years, upon terms therein defined.

An agreement between this company, the New York, Lackawanna and Western, and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, securing to this company certain rights of traffic over the railroads of the two companies last named.
